

of national policy in the relations of nations one to another. Therefore the peace pact has been regarded as the starting point of agreement.

"It has been agreed to adopt the principle of parity in each of the several categories and that such parity shall be reached by Dec. 31, 1938. Consultation between his majesty's government in the United Kingdom and his majesty's government in the dominions has taken place, and it is contemplated that the program of parity on the British side should be related to naval forces of all parts of the empire.

Aim to Revise 1922 Pact.

"The question of battleship strength was also touched upon during the conversations and it has been agreed in these conversations that subject to the assent of other signatory powers, it would be desirable to reconsider the battleship replacement programs provided for in the Washington treaty of 1922 with the view of diminishing the amount of replacement contract implied under that treaty.

"Since both the government of the United States and his majesty's government in the United Kingdom adhere to the attitude that they have publicly adopted in regard to the desirability of securing the total abolition of the submarine, this matter hardly gave rise to discussion during the recent conversation. They recognize, however, that no final settlement on this subject can be reached, except in conference with the other naval powers."

The invitation goes on to state that "in view of the scope of these discussions both governments consider it most desirable that a conference should be summoned to consider the categories not covered by the Washington treaty and to arrange for and deal with the questions covered by the second paragraph of Article 21 of the treaty. It is our earnest hope that the Japanese government will agree to the desirability of such a conference. His majesty's government in the United Kingdom and the government of the United States are in accord that such a conference should be held in London at the beginning of the third week of January, 1938, and it is hoped that the Japanese government will be willing to appoint representatives to attend it."

British Dominions Invited.

An identical invitation has been sent to each British dominion to send representatives to the conference. In the interval before the conference the British government undertakes to continue informal conversations with the other naval powers "on any point that may require elucidation," as it has kept them advised of the negotiations with the United States.

"The importance of reviewing the whole naval situation at an early date," says the invitation, "is so vital in the interests of general disarmament that I trust that your excellency's government will see the way to accept this invitation and that the date proposed will be agreeable to them."

In order to quiet French apprehension that in acceding to a naval agreement at this conference France would impair her position in negotiations for land as well as sea disarmament, the British foreign minister, in concluding his invitation, says that results of the London conference are intended to facilitate the general disarmament program.

No New Machinery Proposed.

"It is hoped," he says, "that at this conference the principal naval powers may be successful in reaching an agreement which should like to emphasize that his majesty's government have discovered no inclination in any quarter to set up new machinery for dealing with the naval disarmament question; on the contrary it is hoped that by this means a text can be elaborated which will facilitate the task of the league of nations preparatory commission and of the subsequent general disarmament conference."

The question of revising the battleship replacement provisions of the Washington navy limitation agreement to be brought into the London conference under the authority of the second paragraph of Article 21 of the Washington conference treaty. That paragraph provides:

"In view of possible technical and scientific developments, the United States, after consultation with the

President and Premier Talk of War Debt and U. S. Tariff

BY JOHN STEELE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 8.—[Special.]—The TRIBUNE learns on high authority that among the subjects talked about at the Rapidian conference between Prime Minister MacDonald and President Hoover was the Anglo-American debt. This seems to conflict with the White House statement that the subject of debts was on the taboo list, but it may be that a line is drawn in the mind of the statesmen between mentioning a subject and discussing it.

What did happen, THE TRIBUNE is in a position to state, is that the subject of debts was mentioned, but in the mind of the British statesmen, at least it was decided that any detailed discussion would be useless as long as the "stupid Balfour declaration" remains in force, as under its terms any remission that Britain might obtain would not benefit her but would have to be passed on to her debtors.

Tariff Is Touched On.

Similarly, while Mr. MacDonald is too clever a statesman to commit the error of entering any protest against the tariff bill now before congress, the subject of tariffs in general and their effect on international relations other contracting powers, shall arrange for a conference of all the contracting powers, which shall convene soon as possible after the expiration of eight years from the coming into force of the present treaty to consider what changes, if any, in the treaty may be necessary to meet such developments."

Motive Really Political.

Although it is not so much technical and scientific as political developments that are bringing the question of revision of the Washington treaty to the fore, the London conference will bring the signatories to that treaty together and enable them to consider the revision scheduled for October later.

In the United States, under the treaty, is to begin the replacement of obsolete battleships designed to place its capital ship fleet on a parity with the British in 1942, when each navy would have 15 post-Jutland ships. Great Britain is to make identical replacement, but is to scrap two more old ships than the United States, the British navy now having two more capital ships than the American. Inasmuch, however, as these two are the Rodney and the Nelson, superior to any American capital ship, it is apparent that if replacements should be suspended completely the American navy would remain inferior indefinitely. This difficulty might be overcome if Great Britain were to scrap some of her tonnage in which she is superior.

Hoover Reports on Conference.

At his conference with the newspaper correspondents, President Hoover today described the progress of his conversations with Prime Minister MacDonald.

"There is nothing," he said, "that I can report at the present moment on the conversation with the prime minister. These conversations are continuing in the most friendly atmosphere. We are therefore able to discuss our mutual problems in the long distance view and solely in the broad aspect of human welfare in the largest sense. Moreover, we are able to carry on our conversations without circumlocution and in absolute frankness with recognition of the point of view of both sides. Neither of us has anything to reserve. We have to search only for those things that will promote the increase of good will and

DEMOCRATSPONT TO TICKET'S LONG RECORD ON BENCH

Compare 324 Year Total with Opponents' 41.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

Computations that the candidates on the Democratic judicial ticket represent 324 years of experience on the bench, while their opponents combined muster only 41 years of bench service were made yesterday by the Democratic political research bureau.

A slogan, "Why throw away three centuries of judicial experience?" was hoisted over the statistical exhibit, which pointed to the following:

The Democratic ticket, with its 23 candidates, contains twenty judges. Of these 17 are the sitting superior judges, of whom nine are Democrats and eight are Republicans. The other three are municipal judges. The twenty have sat on the bench a total of 324 years, mostly in the superior court, giving an average of 15 years' experience per candidate.

Foes Have 41 Years' Experience.

The Republican ticket, with five candidates, contains two municipal judges with an aggregate bench service of 12 years.

The People's Ticket Against Coalition, sponsored by the Brundage followers, has 12 candidates, including three municipal judges with a total of 29 years of bench service.

Using the statistics as text, Clayton F. Smith, Democratic managing chairman, said:

"Let's look at the election of judges from a practical standpoint. Suppose an employer was offered the services of three sets of employees. One set averages 15 years experience, or 324 in all. Another set represents inferior experience of 12 years in all; the third group represents an average of 29 years, or an average of little more than two years as against fifteen. Which group do you suppose he would select? If he did not jump at the opportunity of employing the first group, men who had served him long and well, he would be suspected of insanity.

Other Candidates' Records.

The candidates on the Democratic ticket represent 324 years on the bench, most of it in the upper courts. Of the two who have not had this experience, one [M. J. Isaacs] has served 17 years as master in chancery, and the other [E. I. Frankhauser] has served eight years in the city council.

"On the city hall-Snow-Barrett ticket there are only two candidates with any experience: G. A. Curran and Edgar A. Jonas. They represent 12 years of service in the Municipal council.

"On Boss Brundage's ticket there are three municipal judges who have served a total of 28 years—Howard Hayes, C. F. McKinley, and Harry F. Hamlin.

will not hesitate. The result will be the election of every one of the experienced candidates on the Democratic ticket and the rejection of the candidates who represent only the political ambitions of some Republican boys."

The People's ticket held a meeting in the 35th ward, which was addressed by William H. Haight, one of the twelve candidates on the ticket.

"Two fundamental principles are involved in this election," said Mr. Haight. "The first is whether the people are going to be permitted to exercise their constitutional right to have a freedom of choice in their elections. The second is that sitting judges should not be reelected unless they have proved their fitness."

The Republican ticket was on the platform last night hitting at all five cylinders. Reporters and headline writers were that 62 were leaders at the dinner. Monday night were out circulating election cards. As to the proposal that the People's ticket be placed on the Republican ticket to give emphasis to the seventeen empty places under the Republican circle, it has dropped out of sight. Word at the Hotel LaSalle was that the project is in the brine.

In one respect the lower order of wits called it a red letter day in local politics, for somebody pulled a new gag. It was rather a cryptic jape, as artificial as a Broadway wisecrack, and to get its significance the city hall lads began looking up dictionaries. Some member of the city hall family, it appeared, had referred to himself as being identified with "the maple sugar of the cabinet." When asked the esoteric significance of the crack, he pointed to the dictionary, which defines maple sugar as "refined sap." Mild wonderment pervaded politics, the big puzzle being what unknown had ever copped the label "refined."

FAILS TO LOCATE LOST FLYERS IN ARCTIC SEARCH

WINNIPEG, Man., Oct. 8.—(AP)—A radio message today told of a 1,500 mile flight by a Canadian aviator over the barren lands of the Canadian northwest in an unsuccessful search for eight aerial prospectors, missing for thirty days.

"Punch" Dickins, one of the most skilled arctic flyers, radioed from Fort Smith on Alberta's northern boundary that he had completed a search from Fort Reliance, at the east end of Great Slave lake, to Bathurst inlet, on Canada's far northern coast, flying at times within the Arctic circle. No word had been received from Dickins in four days and plans were under way to send a relief plane in search of him.

The search of the Western Canada Airways' pilot eliminated from the search all but a short section of the route which Col. C. D. N. McAlpine and his seven companions had intended to cover in their two planes. Only a 50 mile area remains to be scanned. Four other planes are engaged in the search for the missing men, but flying has been hampered by the extreme cold.

Lend Approval After Inquiry.

The endorsement was made after a thorough investigation of the proposal. Arguments for and against the proposition were heard and between twenty-five and thirty witnesses testified during the several weeks of an inquiry by a committee of the board of directors.

The endorsement is especially significant since it comes from an organization representing the merchants of the west side. It has been taken for granted that west side motorists who work in the loop—more than 150,000 of them—would support a bond issue for an improvement that will bring them closer to their jobs.

But last night the west side merchants spoke and they said that they wanted an elevated highway that will bring more merchants to their territory. They acted on a conviction that community prosperity will bring individual prosperity. It was on this cold cash basis that these business men dismissed the proposition.

An argument advanced against the bond issue was that the $20,000,000 bonds, with the $2,500,000 gasoline tax money appropriated by the county board, would not complete the improvement. The contention was overwhelming with a mass of testimony from independent engineers substantiating the cost estimate made by the Chicago Plan commission.

MYSTERY GIRL BROUGHT INTO PANTAGES' TRIAL

led to Hold Dancer Captive, Jury Told.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 8.—[Special.]
A mystery woman flitted through the records of the Pantages' rape trial yesterday. State witnesses told of a young lady who was present in the room in the small room in the theater building immediately after the arrest of the 17 year old girl who had brought him from the stage. She was said to have attempted to help Miss Pringle when she sought aid after the alleged attack by Pantages. Two of the state witnesses,
John Gordon and Frank T. Wise, said in their testimony to Miss Pringle's need for help, said they had seen an other woman but her identity remained a mystery at the close of the session.

tioned the strange woman in his story and Wise later corroborated him. The woman questioned Wise closely regarding the woman during an attempt to prove Wise's testimony that she was mentally incapable.

Describes Mystery Woman.

"Did you see this woman?" Wise was asked.

"Yes" he answered.
"Can you describe her? A.—About 25 years old. She was about five feet. She had dark curly hair and was wearing a hat."

"You are positive then that there was one besides a man and woman [Pantages and Miss Pringle]?"
A.—"There was Pantages, Miss
Pringle, Gordon, and another lady.
They occupied the stand in Judge Fricke's courtroom most of the day."

It will be passing the Pantages Theater building on Aug. 9 when he heard a girl scream: "Help, help, help me, save me!"

Under questioning by Deputy District Attorney Robert Stewart, Wise will run upstairs to the mezzanine of the theater building.

Girl Runs Out, Screaming.

"What did you see? A.—I saw when I now know to be Eunice Pringle run, screaming, out of the theater. She stumbled twice, and the second time fell into the arms of the man who had been helping her."

At that time Abraham Pantages was adjusting his coat. The man helped him on with his coat and then shoved him out the door. Then Pringle went upstairs.

Returns to Miss Pringle.

He said he then returned to the front of the theater, where Pringle was sobbing with her head in front of her face.

"What did you do next? A.—Put her from the crowd and spoke a few words to her and then escorted her upstairs, where we saw Pantages and his office door."

"Was anything said? A.—Miss Pringle said, "There is the brute, the brute. Don't let him get away."
"Did Mr. Pantages say anything?
He said, "Shut up. Hush up. Keep quiet."

"What next? A.—The office was up with people. Mr. Hale and Miss Courtney were there, and Pantages mopped his forehead and shouted, "It's a framesup." She had run into my arms and had me to let him touch her.

Abraham, Says Pantages.

"Then what did Pantages say? A.—
He said it was blackmail. He said he had been going there many times to try to sell him her stage and he was excited and kept mopping his forehead."

"What did Miss Pringle say? A.— She said, "Don't let him be like that about me."

"Did you notice her clothing?
Her dress was torn. I know at one of the hooks up the side was torn off, because I tried to fasten her. Her stocking had been torn from her garter and I saw her on her shoulder and body. Her hair was in disarray down her shoulder.
I helped her into a couch in an office until the office

PRIESTESS BARES CULT RITES

Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 8.—[Special.]
Mrs. Odie Blackburn, elderly high priestess of a religious cult under investigation here, admitted to police today she directed members to conceal the body of Willa Rhoades, 16 year old prophet of the order, "because the archangels Gabriel and Michael had revealed to her in a vision that the girl would arise."

Other mysteries of the cult, known as the Divine Order of Royal Arms of the Great Seal, seemed to be revealed as Mrs. Blackburn notified authorities that she was ready to answer questions regarding the disappearance of four believers of her religious philosophy.

Mrs. William Rhoades, foster mother of Willa Rhoades, has been under arrest since Sunday, when police found the girl's body beneath the floor of the Rhoades' home in Venice. Mrs.
Rhoades confessed that the remains had been frozen and transported from place to place in Los Angeles suburbs for three years in the belief the girl would be resurrected. She claimed the girl died from diphtheria. Authorities at Ventura were investigating the death of Mrs. Turner, who was alleged to have been placed in an oven of hot bricks."

WARSHAWSKYS' FAMILY ROW PUT TO APPEAL COURT

Abraham Seeks Use of His Name on Signs.

The Appellate court will decide on the contest of the Warshawsky brothers, Israel and Abraham, for the use of the family name on electric signs advertising their auto accessory and junk businesses. This was assured yesterday when Attorney James A.
O'Callahan appeared before Superior Judge Denis E. Sullivan to announce that A. Warshawsky will appeal the court order restricting his use of the name of his family and of the Ellers, and was followed by the suit.

In contesting the suit, Abraham declared that the name was his birthright, and that he had as much to its use as his brother. He maintained that he, too, lost business because his clients confused the firms. He also declared that he had entered the accessory and junk business before his brother, claiming that he began in 1911 while his brother did not open his business until four years later.

This point was contested by Israel.

Judge Sullivan allowed Abraham to use the family name, but ordered that

New York, Oct. 8.—[Special.]—El-

the largest department store in London, arrived today on the White Star liner Olympia.

Mr. Selfridge said he and his son were planning to sell airplanes in the department store in London. The son is looking for a landing field to accommodate the firm for demonstrating and supply room for demonstrating planes.

Mr. Selfridge was accompanied by his daughter, the Vicomtesse Jacques de Simon, who with her husband has traveled over most of the world. She said she and her husband are plan-

EXPERTS STEP ON GAS IN CREATING BANK OF WORLD

BADEN-BADEN, Germany, Oct. 8.—

The conference for establishing a bank for international settlements after a slow start now is progressing
so rapidly that Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, president of the Reichsbank, returning from Berlin today expressed surprise at the acceleration.

During their discussion of the proposed capital of the bank the delegates found ample occasion to regret the absence of a uniform international corporation law.

On the subject of guarantees, the conference decided to agree to joint guarantees and votes for separate embassments. Under this plan should the question arise of Norway or another country subscribing to a certain portion of the bank capital, the allocation must be decided by the directorate jointly, but each of the seven participating national groups would underwrite separately one seventh of Norway's allotment. The conference has virtually adopted the Young plan for receiving deposits, the delegates agreeing that the bank must avoid to the fullest extent possible competition against private banks for deposits.

Although no country has yet made a formal bid to be honored with the proposed bank, there were indications that both Great Britain and Belgium would welcome it. On the other hand, the prevailing sentiment seemed to be for selection of a neutral European country.

3 GUNMEN HOLD UP 5 GIRL EMPLOYES; GET $3,000 LOOT

Three young gunmen held up the Kraus Brothers-Lowy cleaning and dyeing plant at 3617 West Madison street yesterday, terrorized five women employees, and escaped with approximately $3,000.

One compelled the telephone operator, Miss Evelyn Riordan, to disconnect the switchboard plugs, and guarded the entrance while his accomplices compelled the cashier, Miss Alice Sullivan, 4811 Paxton avenue, to unlock the safe. Miss Sullivan was then shoved to the wall alongside three stenographers, Miss Ray Knight, 5854 South Halsted street;
Miss Anne Shuffin, 3858 West Van Buren street, and Miss Jane McNahon, 5914 West Madison street.

As the robbers were leaving they met two drivers entering. From William Imber, 5120 Wilson avenue, they took $8 and from John Dusak, 5852
South Western avenue, they got $50.

LINDY DISCOVERS ANCIENT RUINS ON HOP OVER JUNGLE

Radio Aboard Plane Tells Story of Hunt.

Miami, Fla., Oct. 8.—(Special)—Discovery of additional Maya ruins, believed never before seen by white men, was the result of the newest aerial adventure today of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh in his flight over the dense jungles of Guatemala.

The news was announced in a teletype radio message received here from the Lindbergh plane as it wheeled over impenetrable tropical tangle in the vicinity of Lake Yaxha, British Honduras. The message was copied at the Pan-American Airways wireless headquarters here, which is maintaining almost constant communication with the flight.

Five columns of gleaming white were sighted over Ticul, Guatemala.

Spy Massive Edifices.

"They must be massive edifices," said the radio message. "Lindbergh is making wide circles and the scientists are jotting down notes. Everybody has turned observer."

A few minutes later the plane passed high over Dr. Oliver H. Ricketson's jungle camp, situated so deep in the forests that it is the only cleared spot in many miles. Vegetation, which had grown 15 feet in nine months, was found to cover the partly cleared ruins of a pyramid, at Uaxactun, believed to have been a Mayan astronomical observatory, dating to the first century after Christ.

Stories rivaling the adventures of fiction were tickled into the air by the radio operator as the Lindbergh party flew over country where the natives scarcely knew the whirling plane from some giant bird of the air. They scattered to their huts, terrified at the strange monster above them.

Terrified Natives Flee.

At one time Indian huts were sighted and Lindbergh circled low so that Mrs. Lindbergh might take pictures, but the panic stricken natives fled before she could operate the camera.

Accompanied by Dr. A. S. Kidder, head of the archaeological branch of Carnegie Institution, Dr. Ricketson, also of the Carnegie staff, Radio Operator Ehmer and W. I. I. Van Dusen of New York, Mr. and Mrs. Lindbergh spent the day penetrating areas of British Honduras and Guatemala from Belize, the present base.

A halt for lunch was called at a tiny island, 800 feet off shore near Flores, where the natives were thrilled at their glimpse of an airplane. After Mrs. Lindbergh served a lunch of ham, chocolate and biscuits, the party was off again, to a ringing cheer from the populace.

Skirt Rain Squalls.

Greetings were extended by Col. Lindbergh and Dr. Kidder to the head man of the village, which is situated seven days from civilization by pack mule and where gasoline sold for $5 per gallon.

Shortly after leaving the village, the plane circled above a village of thatched huts and the men fled at the approach of the ship. During the afternoon as the party turned back toward Belize from the interior, Lindbergh sighted several rain squalls. So delighted was the aviator with a glimpse of green islands in the Caribbean that in mid-afternoon, after three and a half hours flying over dense jungles, he

"LODGE BROTHER" ON JURY HALTS TRIAL OF 84 IN POULTRY WAR

New York, Oct. 8.—(Special)—A mistrial was declared today in the spectacular trial of eighty-four men accused of conducting a "racket" in the $50,000 kosher poultry business in New York after one of the jurors suddenly discovered that he was a "lodge brother" of one of the defendants.

But it was a technical mistrial agreed to by counsel for the defendants and the government prosecutor and proceedings were resumed after another juror had been found to take the place of the one excused.

landed momentarily off a small island in the Gulf of Amatique.

Fly North Today.

BELIZE, British Honduras, Oct. 8.—(UPI)—Members of the Lindbergh aerial exploration party will fly north tomorrow. Their last night in search of the ancient Maya civilization was made today.

Their flight by way of Comal and Havana will complete for Col. Charles A. Lindbergh and his wife their circuit flight around the Caribbean in the interests of new international railroads, it was disclosed here today at the annual convention of the American Association of Superintendents of Dining Cars. Several superintendents said that on long trips, where the people spent a whole day or more on the train, they do not serve an average of three meals per day per passenger. Speeding up of train service, it appears, is not a good thing for the dining car service, because when a train on a long journey cuts down a trip by five or six hours it means at least one, if not two, meals less per passenger on the diner.

Travelers Eating Less and Less—on Dining Cars

Montreal, Que., Oct. 8.—Fewer meals are being served on dining cars of railroads, it was disclosed here today at the annual convention of the American Association of Superintendents of Dining Cars. Several superintendents said that on long trips, where the people spent a whole day or more on the train, they do not serve an average of three meals per day per passenger. Speeding up of train service, it appears, is not a good thing for the dining car service, because when a train on a long journey cuts down a trip by five or six hours it means at least one, if not two, meals less per passenger on the diner.

SMOKE DRIVES OUT WORKERS.

A blaze in a pile of rubbish at the rear of 10 North Clark street smoked out employees of the H. O. Stone company, 6 North Clark, this afternoon. The fire was put out without damage.

Although the flight tomorrow lies over the regular commercial route, the party will still be over the ancient land of the Maya until Cozumel is passed.

Norris Sees Such a Law Doom Enforcement.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 8.—[Special]—Senator Morris Sheppard's proposal to amend the Volstead act so as to make the purchase of liquor a crime invoked a storm of criticism and only slight praise among congressional leaders today.

Even some of the drys took a wallop at the Sheppard bill, which was introduced in the senate yesterday.

Among them was Senator George W. Norris [Rep., Neb.], chairman of the judiciary committee and a pioneer dry, who predicted that prohibition enforcement might completely break down if such a scheme is adopted.

Norris said the plan, if adopted, would prevent 95 per cent of the prosecutions in prohibition cases because in fully that number of cases the testimony of buyers must be relied upon for convictions.

Might Cause Complications.

Senator William E. Borah [Rep., Idaho] stated that although he is in sympathy with progressive dry legislation, the "purchase" clause might cause complications.

Senator T. H. Caraway [Dem., Ark.] said he believed there is sufficient law now to prosecute liquor buyers.

While the drys were divided among themselves on the bill, the wets were outspoken in condemning it.

Senator David L. Walsh [Dem., Mass.] declared that "after a few million Americans are sent to jail in case the Sheppard amendment becomes law, the people may realize the folly of the prohibition law."

Senator Harry B. Hawes [Dem., Mass.] was even more caustic.

"The matter of 'purchase' purposely was omitted from the 18th amendment, and if it is to be brought up now the proper method would be by the submission of another constitutional amendment," he said. "In my opinion the only effect of the Sheppard amendment would be to create

SHUMAKER, INDIANA DRY LEADER, GRAVELY ILL AT INDIANAPOLIS

Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 8.—[U. P.]—Dr. Edward S. Shumaker, superintendent of the Indiana Anti-Saloon league, was reported tonight to be in a critical condition and gradually getting weaker.

Ethan A. Miles, attorney for the league, visited Dr. Shumaker late today and reported that he found the dry leader's condition "extremely grave."

Shumaker is suffering with a complication of diseases, including stomach trouble, for which he recently began using a tonic containing more than 20 per cent alcohol. The tonic was discontinued later when he was criticized.

Shumaker recently served a sixty day jail sentence for contempt of court in connection with criticism of a Supreme court liquor law decision.

more domestic discord, more spies, more informers."

In the absence of Scott McBride, superintendent of the Anti-Saloon league, no official expression of that organization could be obtained. The statement was made that it would be approved, however, if the amendment should be passed, as it would prove useful in enforcement of the dry law.

The Sheppard amendment will come before the regular session of congress in December and it is believed likely that it will precipitate the next major battle between the wet and dry forces, probably throwing the issue into the elections of 1930.

EX-DRYS ON TRIAL WITH DRUG MEN FOR LIQUOR PLOT

New York, Oct. 8.—[Special]—Twenty-three men, including two former prohibition agents and the members of the Union Perfume company and the Doris Pharmacal corporation, both of Brooklyn, went on trial today in federal court for conspiracy to violate the prohibition law.

They were charged with running a redressing plant, raided in Orange county, N. Y., in April and August, 1927. The former agents are charged with accepting bribes. Joseph Jolum, the alleged ringleader, was arrested only this morning, although he was indicted in 1927.

The two defendant corporations are charged with having diverted alcohol obtained by permit to the still.

Lansing, Mich., Oct. 8.—[Special]—Freedom, perhaps

Channie Tripp, first man sentenced to life for four violations of the dry law under Michigan's old "life for a pint" act. The Supreme court has decided Tripp's final conviction on a charge of illegal possession of liquor was invalid and has ordered him released from Jackson prison and returned to Genesee county for a new trial.

The Sheppard amendment will come before the regular session of congress in December and it is believed likely that it will precipitate the next major battle between the wet and dry forces, probably throwing the issue into the elections of 1930.

Tripp will escape further imprisonment lies in the fact that the 1929 legislature modified the habitual criminal act under which he was given this state's extreme penalty.

Loophole Found in Law.

Under the new provision of the criminal code the maximum penalty for four prohibition violations is 7½ to 15 years. The legislature, however, failed to provide a "saving clause" making provisions of the old law apply to violators whose offenses occurred before the date the new act became effective, but whose cases were not disposed of at the time of the change.

Tripp cannot be tried under the modified provision of the new law, as his alleged offense occurred long before it became effective, and there is no provision for using the old law in re prosecuting the case.

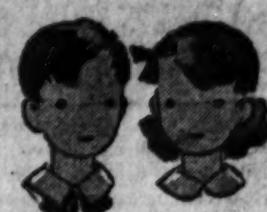

Acquittal Believed Likely.

It is unlikely, therefore, that Tripp

SCANDAL ROCKS BERLIN; DEMAND MAYOR RETURN

BERLIN, Oct. 8.—The Berlin press is clamoring for the immediate return from America of Mayor Boess owing to developments in the alleged $7,000,000 frauds by the three Shultz brothers, called the "Socialist millionaires." Several members of the city council, mostly members of the Social Democratic party, have become involved in the scandal. Acting Mayor Scholz concedes that he has left Mayor Boess in almost complete ignorance of the extent and nature of the scandal and strenuously opposes the popular outcry for his return.

ADERHOLT TRIAL DEFENSE READY TO OPEN TODAY

Character Witnesses Put on Stand by State.

BY TOM PETTEY.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
Charlotte, N. C., Oct. 8.—[Special.]
The state will close its case sometime tomorrow and the defense will begin its testimony in the second Adenholt murder trial here in Mecklenburg county courthouse.

The prosecution apparently was down to its last dozen witnesses before today's session dragged to an end. It was a day of high and low spots. During the early afternoon the state brought out some of its strongest witnesses to bolster up the vivid stories already related from the stand. But toward the close the witnesses became less and less impressive.

The defense tore savagely at the state's witnesses in an effort to break down their accounts of what happened on the union lot in Gastonia last June 7, when Police Chief Adenholt was killed during a fight with a band of communistic union organizers. Tomorrow the defense promises to open its side of the case with a bang.

Charges Against Three Dropped.

North Carolina's other union killing case continued at Marion. Judge W. F. Harding, sitting as a committing magistrate, dismissed murder charges against three deputy sheriffs growing out of the slaying of five A. F. of L. union strikers in a riot at Marion Mill gate.

Those dismissed were W. G. Biggers, Sheriff John Snoddy, and John Gowen. Sheriff O. F. Adkins of Marion and eleven deputies still face murder charges.

The 53 strikers held on charges of rebellion in the Marion affair waived preliminary hearings and were bound over under $500 bonds until the regular term of Superior court. During the afternoon session of Judge Harding's investigation six loyal workers testified, and a preacher and master mill mechanic told what they knew of the shooting bee.

Denies Striking Woman.

H. C. Jackson, Gaston deputy sheriff, was questioned in the Adenholt trial in Charlotte today as to why he did not arrest Fred E. Beal, alleged leader of the communists when he heard him make a seditious speech shortly before the shooting of the police chief.

Jackson could offer no plausible reason for not acting. Then Jackson was asked if he had struck a woman on the night of the shooting. An old woman in black stood up in the audience and peered sharply at Jackson.

"Was that the old lady you hit?"

asked Jimison.

"I've seen her in union parades," replied the young witness, "but I never did hit her."

Tom Phifer, an old, old man, who limped into the courtroom on a cane and crutch, told of chasing "a lot of folks out of the house" after the shooting. He said "Red" Hendricks ran in his house and shouted:

"We have killed Adenholt and Tom Gilbert and one of our men got shot. Hide me or I'll be arrested."

"I told him to git," piped the old man, "and he did git or I would have slapped his face and knocked him down." Dewey Martin, his son-in-law and he is one of them union fallers, was in the house and tried to get me to help Hendricks but I wouldn't."

CONVICT WHO MADE GOOD ASKS MERCY FOR PAL

Voices Dramatic Plea at Springfield.

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 8.—[Special.]—A dramatic scene was staged before the Illinois board of pardons and paroles today when W. H. Delong, former president of the Sadorus bank, on parole from the Chester penitentiary, appeared before the board to plead for the release of Ben Ingram, convicted of participating in the robbery of the Freeburg bank. Ingram drove the car of the Freeburg bank robbers and shared in the $10,000 of loot and holdup netted the bandits.

Delong is devoting his life to making good the losses suffered by the depositors in the Sadorus bank, for the wrecking of which he was sent to Chester. Ingram has invented a window sash which promises to be a commercial success. He desires to make restitution to the Freeburg bank. The two men have formed a business arrangement for marketing the patent. Delong is at liberty, but he needs the practical assistance of his invention.

"I made a mistake," said Delong. "My prison term has not atoned for it. I will not feel easy until each of the depositors who suffered from our bank failure has been paid in full. Ingram made a mistake. He is not a criminal at heart. His participation in that robbery was his first lapse. He is a man of good instincts of a mechanic of ingenuity. He has been granted patents which will make it possible for us to make good the losses our mistakes have occasioned. If you can take the word of a convicted man who has demonstrated his desire to make good by earning a parole from your board, I will vouch for Ben Ingram."

The man, along with a score of others, was taken under advisement by the board, which was in session until a late hour tonight.

The state Supreme court today received petitions for writs of error in the cases of Lafon Fisher, Leonard Shadlow, and Leon Brown, colored, sentenced to be electrocuted at Chicago next Friday for the murder of a bank messenger.

YANKEE QUACKS 'GET THE GATE' IN NEW MEXICO LAW

(Chicago Tribune Press Service) MEXICO CITY, Oct. 8.—A law, governing professions, passed by the senate today, will drive out of Mexico many American professional men, or make them Mexican citizens. In Mexico there are foreign born doctors, lawyers, dentists and other professionals who cannot practice at home because they lack properly recognized certificates. For years they have practiced here.

The law of professions declares that a foreigner must have proper authorization in the form of a certificate from a professional school, officially recognized by the Mexican state or federal government, and the applicant, before being authorized to practice in Mexico, must take an examination at the University of Mexico. He must have a fluent and effective knowledge of Spanish.

The law will also automatically close the offices of many hundreds of Mexican doctors throughout the interior towns and villages of Mexico, since most of those practicing there lack degrees from a professional school.

Mastodon Fossil Becomes Field Museum Property

The skeleton of a mastodon, which was unearthed recently near the village of Walnut, Ind., is now installed by the Field museum of natural history. A searching crew discovered the fossil, which is probably between 10,000 and 100,000 years old, while excavating on the farm of William Bower. Prof. Elmer S. Riggs, associate curator of paleontology at the Field museum, supervised the recovery of the prehistoric beast's bones.

JUDGE REFUSES TO TRY M'MANUS UNTIL AFTER N. Y. ELECTION

New York, Oct. 8.—[Special.]—The trial of George McManus for the murder of Arnold Rothstein, a murderer that has become a central issue in the mayoralty campaign, was postponed today until after the election.

Judge Charles C. Nott Jr. refused to proceed with the case on Oct. 15, the date set for the opening. For a while the judge declined to preside under any circumstances, but finally he was prevailed upon to change his mind and the trial will begin before him in October.

Judge Charles C. Nott Jr., counsel for McManus, would not divulge the reason for the judge's refusal to hear the case before election. It was believed, however, that the jurist represented the fact that a political issue had been handed over to a court of justice for settlement.

A few weeks ago Mr. Banton, smirking under criticism of his conduct in the case, which had been inactive for more than nine months so far as trial was concerned, announced he would go to court without further delay.

BOGAN TO HEAR INTERNATIONAL LAW LECTURES

Superintendent of Schools Bogan and a number of other well known Chicagoans are enrolled in the first adult course in international law to be given this year under the auspices of the Chicago public schools. The Illinois Federation of Labor has sponsored this experiment in adult education, with President Robert Maynard Hichens of the University of Chicago and President Walter Dill Scott of Northwestern university co-operating in the enterprise.

TARIFF HEADING FOR DEADLOCK AS COALITION WINS

Another G. O. P. Amendment Beaten in Senate.

BY ARTHUR CRAWFORD.
(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

Washington, D. C., Oct. 8.—[Special.]—Possibility of a hopeless deadlock on the tariff bill in conference disturbed Republican regulars today as they received another jolt in the senate from the Democratic-radical coalition.

The deadlock loomed in the impetus given to the proposal of the Democrats for the appointment of finance conferees who would be certain to stand pat for the retention of amendments incorporated in the bill by the anti-administration combination. This proposal was offered yesterday by Senator Kenneth McKellar (Dem., Tenn.) at the suggestion of the Democratic national committee.

Vote is 44 to 41.

Today's Democratic-radical jolt to the Republican regulars consisted in the rejection of finance committee amendments broadening the rights of manufacturers and wholesalers to intervene in customs disputes before the treasury and the courts. The amendment test was a vote of 41 to 44.

Twelve Republicans joined with 32 Democrats in bringing about its rejection. The Democrats voted with 38 Republicans in favor of it.

The vote again demonstrated that the coalition is in control on many phases of the tariff situation and may be successful in upsetting the ordinary method for the appointment of the tariff conferees. If the Democrats and radicals control the senate conferees and the regular Republicans have a firm grip on the house situation, a deadlock easily may result.

With Radicals.

The twelve Republicans who voted today with the Democrats were Senators La Follette and Blaine (Wis.), Borah (Idaho), Brookhart (Ia.), Cutting (N. M.), Frasie and Nye (N. D.), Pine (Okla.), Schall (Minn.), Norris and Howell (Neb.), and McManus (S. D.). The three Democrats voting with Republicans were Senators Brundage (Ia.), Heflin (Ala.), and Trammell (Fla.).

The amendments rejected would have given manufacturers and wholesale dealers also organized labor the right to intervene, reappraisal and certain other cases. The senate rejected all amendments broadening the rights of manufacturers and wholesalers to intervene on the same basis so far as the two classes of cases specified in the present law are concerned.

Canal Board in $4,300 Suit Charges Conversion

Alfred Papp, 1614 South 4th avenue, Maywood, former collector of the town of Proviso, was sued for $4,300 plus interest from April 1, 1922, in the circuit court yesterday by the sanitary district. The bill charges Papp with converting the money for his own use from the district's funds.

YRIGOYEN CALLS SPECIAL SESSION OF CONGRESS

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

Buenos Aires, Oct. 8.—A general feeling of relief from the tension noticeable these past few days has resulted from President Yrigoyen's totally unexpected action in convoking congress for an extraordinary session to discuss nationalization of oil and a big bond issue, but in reality to get senate approval of public appointments made recently without the consent of the senate.

In the meantime, much comment has been caused by the extreme diligence shown by police agents in tearing down the Argentine Patriotic League's placard calling on citizens to " vindicate constitutional rights."

The police disclaim responsibility for this, but their denial is generally received skeptically.

The delegates tomorrow will begin a two-day inspection trip of Panama roads.

HIGHWAY PARLEY ASKS BRIDGE OVER PANAMA CANAL

BALBOA, Canal Zone, Oct. 8.—

[U. S.]—The major resolutions were adopted at today's session of the Central American highway conference. The first recommended that an "inter-American union nominate an "inter-American road commission" of from three to eight members and that the commission begin an immediate survey of all features of a proposed international highway, including the cost and means of financing.

The second resolution recommended that the United States provide an adequate means of crossing the Panama canal. This is interpreted to mean that a bridge should be erected, as the Panama delegation has declared that the ferry now used is inadequate.

The delegates tomorrow will begin a two-day inspection trip of Panama roads.

AMERICAN BUILT AUTOGIRO SUCCEEDS IN FIRST TEST FLIGHT

Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 8.—(AP)—The first American built autogiro, manufactured by Pitcairn Aircraft, Inc., plant near here, has been put through its initial test flight and pronounced satisfactory, it was announced today.

In virtual secrecy, the "Windmill" plane, in which are incorporated new features, was wheeled from the factory in the presence of engineers and mechanics, and Señor Juan de la Cieva, Spanish inventor of the plane, took the ship upon its first short flight. He expressed satisfaction with its performance.

The autogiro is sustained in flight by a revolving horizontal motor or set of four vanes. The American made autogiro has a new shape landing gear which lets the plane down with utmost ease, the manufacturers claim. Another new feature is that the motor is tilted down at a six and a half degree angle to the line of the fuselage. This was done to make easier the starting of the motor blades.

FIND FOURTH OF BRAKES FAULTY IN SAFETY DRIVE

Testing 125 automobiles in the opening of Evanston's second better brakes week under the auspices of the accident prevention bureau of the police department yesterday, the police tagged 123 of them as defective. The trucks tested were found to have more reliable brakes than the average of the passenger cars. The previous better brakes week, held in September, reduced the number of accidents so materially that Policeman Frank Kvamli, head of the bureau, thought it advisable to hold a second one.

PARITY IN PRINCIPLE AND PRACTICE.

"Parity? Take it—without reserve, heaped up and flowing over. That is one of the results of this visit."

These are not the words of postprandial oratory but a declaration by the prime minister of Great Britain to the senate of the United States. We don't doubt it expresses Mr. MacDonald's warm and generous nature and we hope it will have the firm support of his government, and, what is most important of all, that of the British people. It does not express the policy followed by Britain's representatives at previous conferences and it will remove all technical obstacles to naval agreement between the United States and England if it is practically realized in the negotiations. Hitherto, in spite of an ostensible adoption or acceptance of the principle of parity, the course of negotiation has not been toward the attainment of parity, and the actual effort, as far as it has been ascertainable, upon behalf of the British representatives, not only under Mr. Baldwin but up to this time under Mr. MacDonald, has been determinedly directed to both an absolute and a relative reduction of American naval strength.

This has not been taking or getting parity. It has been getting away from parity while asserting that parity is our principle.

Meanwhile the British battle fleet has a margin of superiority over ours great enough to have been accounted decisive in many naval combats of the past. Our fleet could not undertake any major offensive operations against the British Isles. In cruisers of the first rating we are far behind at present and there are no bases from which they could act effectively against an approximately equal force in British waters. Yet in this category, the importance of which must increase with the relative reduction of the battleship fleet and despite the British assertion that war between us is not a hypothesis of their policy, the British official effort has been to restrict our strength in this arm as much as possible, and we now learn that the proposed margin in our favor of three large cruisers is discounted by a demand for four cruisers of very slight inferiority. This would bring the big cruiser strength of the two navies to a virtual parity. There is therefore no compensation in this category for the disparity in the battle fleet or for the much greater superiority in so-called light cruisers.

In the category of cruisers armed with six inch guns, the British have asked a heavy superiority and it is very foolish to waive this superiority as an element in comparative naval power. A large fleet of these cruisers, operating as they can upon a system of bases which command not only the principal thoroughfares of the world's commerce but even the Atlantic coast of the United States and the Panama canal, is one of the most powerful agencies for the command of the sea and, with the battleship and large cruiser fleet equalized approximately, it may be a decisive factor.

If we are to understand parity in any but a Ptolemaic sense we must also consider the overwhelming preponderance in fast merchant ships, capable of mounting 6 inch guns and of being really formidable combatant ships in a naval situation from which battle fleets are reduced in size and fighting weight and in great degree neutralized through a fixed parity.

With a system of bases distributed across the world on all main lines of communication, this preponderance of light cruisers and transformed merchant ships will, it seems obvious, secure to the British empire, while her merchant marine remains supreme, as clear a primacy in sea power as either its stars or its vital interests could demand.

In this situation, from which the voluntary sacrifice by the United States of its battleship building program and its willingness to agree to further limitations upon the development of our naval power have cleared away the last intelligible doubt of our pacific policy, we think effort to reduce our cruisers below the minimum advised by our naval authorities and the maintenance of bases confronting our coast is incompatible with the principle of parity and inconsistent with any theory of confidence and pacific cooperation.

No doubt these discrepancies between policy and practice will presently be cleared up, as they must be if the United States and Great Britain are to find a firm footing for confident cooperation in the effort to reduce armament.

ZONA GALE AND MILITARY TRAINING.

In a recent magazine article Zona Gale produced figures showing a declining interest in military training among the students of the University of Wisconsin. Since 1922, when the Wisconsin legislature made military instruction at the university optional instead of compulsory, the enrollment in the course has steadily decreased, although each year has brought an increasing number of young men to the university. The registration in the department of military tactics declined from 1,245 during the first semester of 1922-23 to but 575 in the second semester of 1923-24, although each year has brought an increasing number of young men to the university.

Zona Gale, who has been a regent of the university, credits the unpopularity of the military department to the conviction of the undergraduates that differences between nations will hereafter be composed around conference tables; that warfare is extinct and preparation for it is a useless chore. She is gratified to believe that the students have arrived at these conclusions of their own initiative and on their own responsibility. But if the students are pacifists and shun military training on principle, Zona Gale, together with President Glenn Frank and the other so-called liberal educators in the university, is responsible. The predominant influence at Madison is pacifistic. A deliberate campaign of defeatism has been conducted to destroy military training there. That the campaign has not been even more successful is testimony to the common sense of the students, reflecting the patriotic tradition of the state of Wisconsin.

The mortification of military training at the state university is a reversal of Wisconsin history. The state which produced the valiant Iron Brigade in the civil war and contributed its full share of troops for the world war has never before been reluctant to assume the obligations of citizenship. And we are sure that the weakness, which Zona Gale exalts, is not representative of Wisconsin opinion today. The activity of a clique of enterprising pacifists and doctinaries negatives the true patriotism of Wisconsin citizens.

TO COMPLETE THE ILLINOIS WATERWAY.

Gov. Emmerson has undertaken to get action on the state's request for federal aid in completing the Illinois waterway. The state is in a hole. The legislature cannot appropriate money because of a constitutional prohibition of such use of ordinary revenue. That's an echo of the old canal wildcatting when every farm ditch was to carry barges. The bond issue has been exhausted and the state is embarrassed. It does not require a great deal of money to complete the work, probably $5,000,000. Federal aid is asked.

It is a moderate and reasonable request. Any other section of the country would look for early and favorable action from congress. New England expects the federal government to make the Cape Cod canal wider and deeper so that large ocean going ships can use it. It was privately dug, but the government was persuaded to buy it. Now it is to be persuaded to improve it. New York confidently deserves federal construction of a New York seaway. California was given the Boulard dam. The Ohio river is a child of destiny for federal appropriations. Muscle Shoals got its bit.

The Illinois valley offers the waterway link connecting the lakes with the Mississippi. The state has done most of the work on its own. The request for federal aid is so reasonable in view of the circumstances and the nature of the improvement that urgency should not be necessary. It ought to be enough to lay the facts on the table.

ELMER GREEN AND THE TRIAL DEBTS.

Elmer J. Green again is seeking preferment from the citizens of Lake county. He is a candidate for sheriff in the Republican primaries to be conducted next April.

When Len Small was brought to trial in Waukegan in 1923 on indictments charging conspiracy to defraud the state and embezzling $500,000 of state funds, Green was sheriff of Lake county. He was, thereby, in charge of summoning the veniremen for the Small jury. At the end of the two months' trial Small attained an acquittal.

Two days after the small trial Eddie Courtney and Eddie Kaufman, Chicago gunmen, and J. B. Fields, a member of the Small jury, were brought to trial on charges of jury bribing. They, also, were acquitted, but during the trial the appointment of Green as state superintendent of prisons transpired.

Later Small conferred more patronage among Lake county residents, appointments which were then referred to as "trial debts."

Among the other Lake county beneficiaries of small appointments were four members of the Small jury—Fields, deputy game warden for the district of Kankakee; George Martin, who was credited with swinging the jury to a decision, investigator for the state fish and game department; W. C. Reckow and Frank Reardon, state highway inspectors; William J. Smith, editor of a Waukegan paper which supported the defendant.

Green succeeded to greater office under Small as warden of Joliet penitentiary, a position from which he was recently retired by Gov. Emmerson.

In the citizenship of Lake county sufficiently interested in the qualifications of its officials, the character of its government, and its own good name to disappoint Mr. Green's hopes of regaining the opportunities of the sheriff's office which he has found in the past so profitable?

Editorial of the Day

THE PIG IS NOT PIGISH. (Topeka (Kan.) Capital)

From the day when man first began to eat bacon, the word "pig" has stood for the ultimate in greed and bad manners.

But now comes the United States department of agriculture with a bulletin asserting that the pig has been fully wronged. He is not, after all, pigish by nature; under the surface he has unsuspected forces of restraint and daintiness.

The department found this out by experimenting with self-feeders for pigs. These things, it seems, are contrivances by which the pig can help himself to his food whenever he feels like it.

One might expect that this would get the pig with his snout forever in the trough. But, as a matter of fact, the pig eats less this way, and is far nicer about it, than when he is fed by hand.

In other words, the pig's pigishness has been forced on him by man. When we call a greedy gutton a pig we are slandering the noble race of porkers.

AN ECHO.

JUST before the world series of 1911, between New York Giants, managed by John J. McGraw, and Philadelphia Athletics, managed by Cornelia McGillicuddy (Connie Mack), Hugh E. Troubridge, better known as "HEK" and originally in "In the Wake of the News," published a verse in his column entitled "Dorgan's Dilemma." Not inappropriate for the present occasion, here it is:

With both of them Irish and both of them Mac, And each with a bunch of "harpes" at his back, How can I tell on which side to align TII I know which one's County is closest to mine?

For reminding us of this verse we extend credit to Helper L. B., which initials he explains as meaning Low Brow.

The Wake-Line tomorrow will republish the words of what possibly is best remembered by local baseball fans of all diamond verses. It originally was captioned "Gotham's Woe," but became more popularly known as "Tinker to Evers to Chance."

OF ALL SAD WORDS.

While on this republishing subject we offer a few words familiar to many baseball fans. To those at the opening game of the world series, however, they will explain why many of their friends were not among those present. These words are:

"We regret exceedingly that we could not fill your order for world's series tickets and we here-with return your check. This is due entirely to the fact that we had ten applicants for every available ticket."

"We appreciate your interest in the Cubs and are extremely sorry that we were unable to meet the wishes of all our friends."

THE BARD'S GOOD-BY.

Farewell, sweet muse; O love, a fond farewell! How sweet the bliss that I and I have known, The kiss like nectar in the lily's bell.

Forgive me, gentle muse . . . how could I know

The pods would place this lute in my way?

That destiny would come and bid me go

To see the Cubs and Athletics play?

Dissolve not so in tears, my heart is true,

For no one else do my desires burn.

But Fate—the whiffler!—tripped me at the turn.

A last farewell, dear heart . . . O, woe is mine!

Fair days or foul now must I stand in line!

DOC PILLIBURG.

WE WONDERED yesterday whether we were a temporary Wake-Line conductor or a baseball "expert," so called. Now we know. We are both. That's doubling in "brass"—"brass" used in the common or garden variety slang sense—but if you are interested in our thoughts, if any, on the opening series game, they will be found on the sporting page.

MORDECAI BROWN OUR GUESS—He's Here.

Dear Harve: Down here in Lawrenceville, Ill., there is a young fellow with gray hair. He has a finger of his right hand. He is very proudly dressed and the gravel from which, as I understand it, the stones are formed. One physician tells me I should never touch meat in any form, another that I should avoid meat, and a third that meat will do me harm.

2. Are the advertised mineral waters of any value in the treatment?

3. My physician tells me I will never be able to do any strenuous work. For a housewife with an active child this is a severe verdict!

4. If I also have a floating kidney would this complicate or change the treatment any?

REPLY.

1. Probably not. You should have your urine tested repeatedly for degrees of acidity. It is usually acid and eat an alkali-alash diet. This diet is composed of milk, vegetables and fruit. It is acid and eat an alkali-alash diet.

2. Not much. Drink distilled water otherwise.

3. My guess is that you will be able to carry on your regular duties. However, you may pass other stones. Kidney stones may not cause an X-ray shadow.

4. Possibly, but not necessarily.

COLOR ON A CAN.

A. M. S. writes: Will you kindly inform me as to whether canned goods are harmful if the inside of a can is black on top or bottom. This has been the case with canned peas that I have been getting, although the peas themselves looked fine. When touching the black spot on the can my fingers were black. I did not use the peas.

REPLY.

If the dark material rubbed off it was probably a combination of some metal. I do not know where the substance came from, especially if the peas seemed to be all right. Assuming that the can was not swelled and looked all right except for the darkening, and that the peas were right in appearance and odor, I think I would have taken a chance.

WE WISH TO call the attention of those readers who rely on this column for their sporting information that the second game of a so-called world series will be held on the north side this afternoon, somewhere in the vicinity of Addison street station of the Northwestern "L."

Referred to John Griffith.

Harvey: While the eligibility of numerous Iowa football players is being investigated, I think it no more than right that something be done about Harold Tean. I know he has had more than three years competition.

MY CUP.

Gone, long since, the dainty handle
And the flowers are faded quite;
And the bowl with age is yellow
That was once a gleaming white;
Bitter drops that lurk within it

Love distilled from honeyed phrases
In a distant day I knew.
Still, with poised hand I lift it
When at evening I would sup,
And with trembling lip I quaff it—

A. F. OF L. TRIES TO HEAL BREACH WITH TRAINMEN

Air Ancient Grudges on Convention Floor.

TORONTO, Ont., Oct. 8.—(AP)—An attempt to heal the long standing break between the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, the largest single union in the railroad field, and the American Federation of Labor was made today in an open session of the federation convention.

Albert Whitney, chief of the brotherhood, told delegates, who rose and cheered him, that he saw no reason for the brotherhood to remain separated from the balance of the labor movement, and that he intended to ask the lodges of the order immediately to vote on a proposal to affiliate.

Immediately some of the long standing differences, which have kept the trainmen's brotherhood, like the brotherhoods of engineers and conductors, outside the federation ranks, were aired.

Previous Proposals Failed.

Daniel J. Tobin, president of the Trainmen's union, warned the convention that proposals to affiliate the brotherhoods with the federation had been raised before, but always failed because craft organizations affiliated with the federation could not allow the full extent of brotherhood claims to exercise jurisdiction over trades.

T. N. Taylor, delegate from the Indiana state federation, sought to take the floor away from Tobin on a point of order, asserting that his remarks "were not helping the American Federation of Labor," but William Green, president of the federation, ruled that Tobin might proceed. The incident was dropped for the moment, but is expected to arise in later convention sessions.

Reviews Economic Trend.

Spencer J. Miller, secretary of the workers' education bureau, in the course of an address on that body's work called for attention of organized labor to modern economic tendencies, asserting that mergers of productive units was proceeding so fast that 25 American banks might be expected to control the country's industry within a few years. He also mentioned an old dispute before the federation relating to the policy of Brookwood Labor College in New York, declaring efforts to reconcile that institution with federation policy had been unsuccessful.

Convention sessions were adjourned over until Thursday to allow delegates to visit Niagara Falls and be the guests at a dinner of the premier and cabinet of the Ontario provincial government.

New York, Oct. 8.—[Special.]—The strike of the teamsters' and chauffeurs' union, which since last Saturday had cut off New York's fresh food supply and jammed fruit yards and piers with thousands of dollars worth of perishables, ended this afternoon.

Immediately afterward the railroads lifted the embargoes on shipments of fruit and vegetables imposed yesterday when the thousands of unloaded produce cars on their tracks began to cause serious traffic congestion.

The union men offered the Market Truckmen's association, their employers, two propositions, one of which called for a general increase of $5 a week for all drivers, a nine hour day, and straight time for overtime, beginning at the tenth working hour. This, it is generally believed, will be the proposition which the employers will accept.

The alternative arrangement called for an eight hour day, no increase in wages, and straight time for overtime, beginning at the ninth working hour.

The truckmen's association agreed to accept either one of the other of the propositions and the union officials promptly called off the strike.

RACKETEERS GET GRAPE JUICE BY SCARING BUYERS

Grape juice racketeers are operating in Chicago, it was revealed yesterday by E. C. Yellowley, prohibition administrator. The racketeers snob out the consignees of car lots of grapes, pose as prohibition agents, and threaten the consignees so that they will not accept such shipments, Yellowley said. Then the racketeers bid in the shipments at a fraction of their real value. Mr. Yellowley pointed out that grape products may be bought legally unless the purchaser makes the manufacture of alcoholic liquor.

FINISH MAPPING U. S. IN 18 YEARS, IS HOOVER ORDER

Million Added to Budget to Complete Surveys.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 8.—[Special.]—Steps to expedite mapping the topographical features of the entire surface of the United States were taken today by President Hoover. At the direction of the President, the secretaries of commerce and interior have ordered a program under which the topographic coast and geodetic surveys of the nation are to be completed within eighteen, rather than thirty years.

The new arrangement is to be effected by providing additional appropriations for the topographical and geodetic surveys. According to present plans, $1,000,000 will be added to the 1931 budget.

Show Entire Surface.

When the surveys are completed, the United States will have maps showing the exact configuration of the entire surface of the United States, including positions of streams, lakes, roads, and cities. Hills and valleys, as well as lesser changes in elevation and depression, will be recorded.

The President acted after receiving a special report from Secretary of Commerce Lamont and Secretary of the Interior Wilbur which disclosed that the topographical work was lagging. Although the first work of this kind was begun seventy years ago, only 43.6 per cent of the nation has been mapped. At the present progress, which is less than 1 per cent a year, it is estimated that eighty years would be necessary to complete the project. Work on the mapping has been so slow, it was revealed today, that much of the work done twenty or thirty years ago is now out of date.

States Pay Half.

"Under the present plan, the government pays the cost of work in the public domain, and 50 per cent of the expenses in states. At present several of the eastern seaboard states are mapped. Few of the surveys in the central and western states are as much as 50 per cent completed. The work in Ohio has been completed and the Illinois project is 53 per cent finished. New York state is now completely mapped. The topographical surveys in Indiana are 10 per cent completed; in Iowa, 23 per cent; Michigan, 22 per cent, and in Wisconsin, 31.8 per cent.

FIND NEGRO'S BODY ON TRACKS. The body of William Fields, 20, colored, 1509½ Clifford street, Flint, Mich., was found late yesterday lying on the tracks of the Pennsylvania Railroad, near 15th street. South Chicago police removed the body to undertaking parlors at 8944 Commercial avenue, where an inquest will be held today.

What alibi can she make for you?

When other men's wives go into raptures about Timken Oil Heating, and how considerate their husbands are, what alibi can your wife make for you? ## RUSSIA PUZZLED AS IT GOES TO WORK ON SUNDAY

New Workers' Week Gives Annoyance.

BY DONALD DAY.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service) RIGA, Latvia, Oct. 8.—The Russian papers, with considerable gratification, comment on the newly introduced workers' week, which abolished Sundays, and gave Moscow quite a different aspect last Sunday, when such factories and offices as had already adopted the new week were as busy as on ordinary week days.

Sunday a Busy Day.

There was brisk trade in the stores. Streets were filled with trucks, street cars and crowded with workers and busy people. The papers state that although the workers' week was not effective until Oct. 1, many factories hastened to introduce the new custom the latter half of September. The new week was also introduced to the army.

Certain difficulties appear in connection with the performance of workers' week, which is a six day week for six hours per day workers and a five day week for seven and eight hour per day workers. The latter are in the majority.

The last day of each week is a holiday, which, it is reported, already involves disorder in such establishments where the workers work six hours and the office personnel eight hours.

Workers Slightly Puzzled.

What benefit industry will derive under the provisions of the new calendar seems problematic, since every worker is granted 40 hours per week, at the end of which he has a day off.

50 PERSONS RESCUED FROM FLOODED HOMES IN SOUTH CAROLINA

Savannah, Ga., Oct. 8.—(AP)—Approximately fifty persons, most of them Negroes, were removed from their homes in the flooded area between Levy and Pritchardville, S. C., today by relief expeditions.

Members of a relief party that used a special train said that virtually all persons in the section were safe, although water still was rising near Pritchardville. It was believed the Savannah River had forced a split way into New river and the great swamp of South Carolina, inundating a large area.

Those taken from flooded homes were being cared for by neighboring villagers.

The relief expedition was arranged on reports made by Seaboard Air Line employees yesterday, who sighted refugees marooned in trees.

Hence he is off every fifth or sixth day, respectively, instead of every seventh, according to the old calendar.

It would appear, according to street gossip, that the "Bezbozhnik," anti-religious league, which is responsible for the new calendar, rendered a poor service to soviet Russian industry.

Oversight Traps Father on Abandonment Charge

An oversight by David W. Erensky, 22 years old, wanted in Milwaukee for abandoning his wife and child, resulted yesterday in his arrest. Advised that he was staying in the Paxton hotel, 1432 North La Salle-street, Detective Thomas Meagher and Lawrence Casselman were told by the hotel clerk that Erensky had checked out. They searched his room, however, and found an old envelope containing letters indicating he was employed in a livery store. He was found there.

ALLEGED PIERLING TON SHOT.

Bellefonte, Ill., Oct. 8.—(AP)—Howard Wathen, 18, was shot seriously wounded last night by Patrolman E. W. Mallon, who said he was chasing boys accused of peeping through a window in a girls dressing room.

BOILERMAKERS TERM NEW CITY LICENSE ILLEGAL

An ordinance passed recently by the Chicago city council requiring a license for the installation of steam boilers is unconstitutional, it was declared in a conspiracy action filed yesterday in the United States District court here. The suit names as defendants the city boiler inspection department, the Boiler Manufacturers' association, and the boiler makers' union.

In the bill, filed in behalf of the Babcock and Wilcox company, boiler makers, by the firm of Sanders, Childs Bobb and Westcott, it is alleged that the defendants named have conspired to interfere with the setting up of boilers here by firms located outside the city.

The bill names specifically local No. 1 of the International Brotherhood of Boilermakers and Iron Ship Builders and Helpers, and George F. Nye, chief boiler inspector for the city.

8 JURORS SWEORN FOR TRIAL OF ARSON RING CASE

Eight jurors were sworn in last evening when court adjourned in the trial of two women and two men who are charged by the state's attorney's office with being members of an arson ring connected with a bombing gang. The defendants are Mrs. Evelyn Sugar, 22 years old; Mrs. Bertha Amster, 24 years old; Mike Cassell, alleged bomber, and Nick Cassell, owner of a store at 4947 West Chicago avenue.

Judge George Fred Rush notified the attorneys that he expected the jury selection to be completed today.

It is rumored that a witness was questioned by the state's attorney's office about answers he had given in the jury box was denied by the prosecutors.

Nicky De Paul, one of the state's witnesses, fled to Milwaukee several weeks ago, but was returned to Chicago Monday after he was found working under an assumed name.

New Models de Luxe by PIERCE ARROW

Now on Exhibit are the Season's Latest Style Expressions in the New Straight Eight Line

HERE are the season's offerings by Pierce-Arrow—the new models de Luxe. Each a rare harmonizing of coloring and fabric, of interior and exterior. All recent creations of famed artists in design and decoration.

The appointments are of a character ordinarily confined to custom-built cars—and are present in such details as special tailoring, hassocks, jewelers' fittings, lighting equipment, and added accessories of Pierce-Arrow excellence.

All models shown are of the new Straight Eight line. All essentially of the design which sets a new fashion in fine motor cars this year with its low-swung, slender grace and rare freedom from bulk and stodginess.

The mechanical detail of Pierce-Arrow is equally of the hour. It has been remarked that Pierce-Arrow embodies every device of proved character known to the engineering of fine motor cars. And this is particularly true of today's Straight Eight.

From the beginning, and without boast, this new creation of Pierce-Arrow has offered non-shatterable glass, super-efficient brakes, easy gear-shifting, and low gravity center. It has pioneered other features, since widely exploited by contemporaries.

But Pierce-Arrow adopts nothing that fails to contribute definitely to the already high efficiency of Pierce-Arrow performance, or the established safety and comfort of Pierce-Arrow owners.

There is much more to be said for the new season's Pierce-Arrow exhibits. But it is infinitely more important that these be seen. And so a cordial invitation is extended to all who admire the beautiful and the fashionable in fine motor cars.

VALUE far above the PRICE

IN REVIEWING the many advantages of the Ford car, it is particularly interesting to note the relation between value and price.

The low first cost is a point to keep in mind at all times because it means a considerable saving to you in the purchase of a car.

Of even greater importance, however, is the reason for this low price and the manner in which it has been achieved without sacrifice of quality or performance.

Every purchaser shares the benefits of the Ford policy of owning the source of many raw materials—of making thousands of cars a day—of selling at a small margin of profit—of constantly giving greater and greater value through the vast industrial organization that has been built up for the making of this car.

A new degree of excellence has been brought within reach of all the people through the development of new manufacturing machines and the discovery and working out of new manufacturing methods.

Evidence of this is found in the extremely close limits of measurement maintained in the manufacture of vital parts. Some of these are held true to within a maximum variation of three ten-thousandths of an inch (.0003), reducing friction and wear and resulting in greater reliability, longer life and better performance.

As the quality of workmanship has been increased through the accuracy of the machine, so has the quality of materials been increased. The savings resulting from new manufacturing economies have been put back into the car. Through typical Ford methods, materials once thought too expensive for a low price car have been made available for use in the Ford.

Today, more than ever, it is an outstanding example of high quality at low cost. Were it made in any other way, under any other policy, it would unquestionably cost you much more than the present price.

The use of the Triplex shatter-proof glass for the windshield is a definite indication of the quality that has been built into the Ford car. So are the four Houdaille hydraulic shock absorbers. The five steel-spoke wheels. The silent, fully enclosed six-brake system. The aluminum pistons. The chrome silicon alloy valves. The simplicity and efficiency of the lubrication, cooling, ignition and fuel systems. The large number of ball and roller bearings. The extensive use of fine steel forgings instead of castings or stampings. The many other mechanical features that count so much in reliability, economy and long life.

All of these are important considerations to every man and woman who is contemplating the purchase of a motor car. All are important reasons why the Ford delivers a value far above the price.

WINS ANNULMENT OF MARRIAGE TO BRUCE HAMILTON

Mrs. Amy Stephens Hamilton yesterday won an annulment of her marriage to Bruce P. Hamilton, son of the late David Gilbert Hamilton, car magnate, before Superior Judge Sabath. Mrs. Hamilton charged that her husband was insane at the time of the marriage. The Hamiltons were married Jan. 14, 1924, at Wheaton while Hamilton was a patient at the North Shore health resort. Last spring Mrs. Hamilton filed a $200,000 alienation of affection suit against Hamilton's mother and sister, Mrs. Mary Hamilton and Mrs. Adelaide K. Ryerson. It is understood that the suit will be dropped.

Give Stable Buildings.

"Fire prevention has been largely instrumental in giving American cities their modern building codes, through which a high degree of permanence and stability has been introduced into building construction," the insurance department of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States points out in a similar bulletin.

"Some idea of what has been done in this one field can be obtained by comparing the type of building structures in vogue as recently as twenty years ago with those erected today."

Recollections of the Chicago fire were stirred yesterday by Frederick Rex, librarian at the municipal reference library, who discussed the "fire shanties" of the city following the holocaust.

"At that time the region west of Larrabee street on the north side was almost unoccupied," he stated, "as far down as the north branch of the Chicago river. When relief work began, this tract was suggested as an ideal place for the building of houses for people whose property was destroyed. So a lot of cottages and one long, low building were erected.

"The long, low building was called 'the Barracks,' and in this building were lodged over thousand families. They were mainly of men that had not hitherto lived in houses of their own, but in tenements. Each family in 'the Barracks' had two separate rooms, furnished in precisely the same way as the isolated houses or cottages. Their occupants were undoubtedly nearly, if not quite, as comfortable as they had been before the fire.

Supervised by Authorities.

"They were under the careful and constant supervision of medical and police superintendents, and it was felt that their moral and sanitary conditions were better than those which had previously obtained."

At the world's fair of 1893, the anniversary of the great fire, Oct. 9, was chosen as "Chicago day," when a record crowd of 700,000 assembled at the fair grounds in Jackson park. The date has since been observed as "Chicago day."

George W. Dixon Gives School $500 for Books

FILL ELEVATORS WITH WHEAT AS PRICES DECLINE

U. S. Farm Board Gets Terminal Report.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service)

Washington, D. C., Oct. 8.—[Special.]—Grain elevators in the northwest wheat growing sections have been filled almost to the limit of their working capacity since Sept. 1, according to a preliminary report made to the federal farm board today by the bureau of agricultural economics of the department of agriculture. The bureau, at the request of the farm board, is conducting an inquiry into the grain storage and terminal situation.

The findings in the report appear to lend strength to charges that the congestion of wheat storage facilities by speculators is depressing the prices of the incoming crop. Although the preliminary report did not analyze the cause of the condition, it stated clearly that elevator space is scarce, especially in Minneapolis, Duluth, Chicago and the other northwest storage centers.

The farm board requested the inquiry on Sept. 11, with a view to determining if the cause of the disparity between Canadian prices and prices in the northwest states is caused by crowding of wheat onto the market.

"In addition part of the bin space cannot be filled up. There is the average only from 80 to 90 per cent of the total rate of elevator capacity really available, even in the case of elevators in good condition."

TWEED

FASHION'S darling among the woolens—to it, most of all the informal woolens, she devotes her enthusiasm this Fall. With exquisite tailoring, with clever detail, with daring line, she evolves from these soft, loose tweeds an infinite variety of smart modes, at the same time simple and sophisticated.

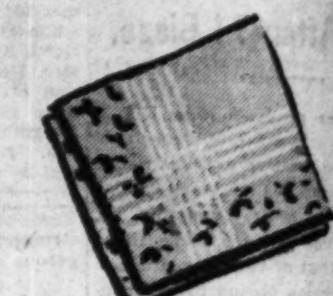

Tweed as synonymous with utility has dated as definitely as the silhouette of yesteryear—not because it is any less durable or practical—but because it has achieved a beauty of coloring and texture that is being emphasized by the new formality of the current mode.

With the development of a type of apparel for general wear, based on the tailored foundation, the scope of the tweed frock, coat and ensemble has been materially increased—and that it has responded with great chic is indicated by the smart things it has fashioned in our collections. These include garments of every price range from the most moderate to the most exclusive.

According to all the conventions of baseball and common decency Joe McCarthy has a right to sue Connie Mack for even thinking about running in this old dark horse, Howard Ehmke. The whole thing was unusual. It's getting so a baseball manager has absolutely no protection under the statute of limitations.

Howard Ehmke, an old cuss who's been ducking his turn at bat all year supposed to be in bad because the team he always talked about was never good.

Why, the fellow only won seven times all year.

Mack admits he's 35 and he looks as bad as Ed Walsh, the man from whom he matched the world series different record. But then Ed has been keeping young these many years

reading the record books which show his twelve strikeouts against the Red Sox on Oct. 11, 1906, held the record until yesterday.

Trick Stuff His Specialty.

Though never listed as one of the stars of baseball, Ehmke has had his moments in the past. For instance, he pitched a no hit, no run game against the same Mr. Connie Mack's team six years ago last month.

He's always been known as a sort of magician with a baseball. Many times observers say he has more trick stuff than any other pitcher except, maybe, his guile on a wide delivery which includes underhand, sidearm, and overhand techniques, each of which he employs equally well. His slow ball, which makes the Cubs look so childish on most occasions yesterday, is one of his best, especially when propelled up an underhand delivery.

He's known to give the Cubs a lot of stuff the like of which they have never even momentarily had in a right-hander in their own circle, except, perhaps, for brief stretches from Carl, Mayo, Willie

Smith, left-handed Cardinal, shows some slow ones, but they've been pretty much on to Willie.

Nearly Ties Season Total.

Connie Mack's 35 year old star hasn't gone in for strikeouts in recent years.

But yesterday's total was within one of his total for the season. Last year, when he pitched 139 innings, he struck out only 24 batsmen.

Ehmke, who was born at Silver

City, Mo., April 24, 1894, had a cup of coffee with the Washington team in 1915 but did not crash the team books before he signed up with the Federal League team the next year. In 1916 he pitched for the Angels and Syracuse before ending up with that year with the St. Louis Tigers.

Ehmke was with the Tigers until he went to Boston after the 1922 season. His best year with the Tigers was 1923 when he won 17 while losing 11 for a percentage of .620.

After transferring to the Boston team, Ehmke took a renewed interest in life and won 26 games for a last outfit, including the aforementioned no run game. The score was 4 to 0. He stayed with the team until June 15, 1926, when he went to Philadelphia for Jacobson,

Heimann and Holman.

He won 12

for Connie in 1927 and nine more in 1928.

Hasn't Started Since July.

Ehmke makes his home in Detroit, which heads a concern which manages tarpaulins for covering baseball and football fields for protection in rain and snow. Last year he was at the University of Chicago the team now used on Stagg Field and which is used in most of the and class. A football estab-

BASEBALL FANS, 50,000 OF 'EM, SEE SERIES OPEN

Calm, Generous, Give a Good Show a Big Hand.

It was a calm, generous, and intelligent company of 50,000 men, women, and children who filled Wrigley field's stands yesterday when the curtain rolled up on the 1929 premiere of the world series. They came, they applauded, and they departed as if sitting in on the big show were a weekly occurrence, but they didn't give you the impression that they were hard boiled stagers who were merely present to say that they were there.

It was a whale of a show and they gave it a right big hand, but they didn't act as if it was a case for straitjackets or padded cells.

There was just one hitch in the proceedings and the fans can blame it on themselves. All happened because the fortunate 35,000 whose hands had reached into the Cub's crab and came out clutching reserved seats were leisurely about getting to the park. Maybe they wanted to squeeze the last kick possible out of the thought that they had tickets to the opener, or it might have been they wanted to flaunt them among the luckless until the last moment.

Then Crash Starts.

Anyway, it was 12:45 before the reserved section held anything resembling a crowd, and that occupied about one-fourth of the grand stands, boxes, and upper tiers. They continued to straggle in until 1 o'clock. Then it was that the majority commenced to eddy in through the reserved gates and down the aisles. Within five minutes the waves of fans breaking against the several front doors mingled with the hangers-on about the park and the only confusion of the day resulted.

There was considerable scraping of shoulders and bumping of elbows and knees before the latecomers got next to themselves and fell into line. Then the rapidly increasing number of them added to the general inconvenience, for it took many of them from 20 minutes to a half hour before they so much as reached the stairways leading to the precious seats.

Not only did they cause themselves a lot of bother, but also they held up the opening of the game. The game was to start promptly at 1:30, but it was 1:45 before Charley Root could burst over the first ball of the series to Max Bishop, the Athletics' leadoff man. Even then there were hundreds who made stage entrances until the second inning had gotten under way.

Plenty of Cheers for All.

When the fans finally settled back in their seats, however, they gave themselves over completely to the enjoyment of the scene before them. They were Cub fans or Athletic fans and they didn't betray their league affections. It was a strictly nonpartisan crowd of baseball fans, who wanted to see a good ball game and were seeing it. They didn't cheer any louder or lighter when Hack Wilson took a running dive at a low fly and came up with it than they did when Jimmy Dykes dived for a liner and held it.

They did pitch their voices a note higher, however, when they saw what that fellow Ehmke was doing with the ball and to murderers' row. That was something that couldn't be overlooked, something that happens once in twenty-three years. They gave him the same wholehearted applause that Big Ed Walsh must have gotten when he set the record Ehmke broke back in 1906.

Police Handle Crowd Easily.

And when it was all over, they wended their way home without any of the temporary confusion attendant upon their entrance. It was an orderly exit, much more so than some of those made during the season, when the Cubs were in the thick of the pennant fight. To make it perfect, they found no traffic problems awaiting them when they got outside, for the police had attended to parking mats and signs with what is called neatness and dispatch.

What little stampede there was came at 7:30 in the morning, when the bleachers got their reward for standing and sitting in line anywhere from two to thirty hours. The time of opening of the sale had been set at 8:30, but when more humans than 12,500 seats had been gathered in a four abreast cut, twisting around the park, the doors were opened.

Bleachers Take Hour to Get In.
Checker games were hastily folded up, cards stuffed into pockets, while the super-fans (super-fans because they went through an agony of waiting that only a fanatic could equal) pushed the chap in front of them toward the box office. It took an hour or so for the lucky 12,500 to get their seats and choose their places in the bleachers, though even after the windows closed hundreds of the less hardy were clammed for admittance.

More than 12,500 came for the standing room admissions, which sold at three times the dollar price of bleacher seats, but these tickets were even fewer and again hundreds were disappointed.

HOW EHMKE DOES IT

MACKS' VICTORY NINTH STRAIGHT FOR AMERICANS

Cubs Lose Opener to Macks; Ehmke Fans 13; New Record

he looked that way that he Cub's first big scoring chance in the third was a liner to center after two strikes. English rammed a double over first base. Miller paws the air waiting for the ball to come down after it had bumped the screen in front of the flag pole. McMillan went tearing around the bases and passed third as Foxx turned to make the relay to the plate. McCarthy waved him back.

English, who throws one a bit overhand. Sometimes it is turned loose with a sideswipe motion. Frequently he dangles one in front of the batter with an underhand delivery. The Cubs hadn't seen a man like this all season. They were swinging as if speed balls, instead of slow footers, were coming up to them.

Ehmke started to weld his chain of strikeouts in the second. He fanned Cuyler and he fanned Stephenson. This gave him confidence. He kept getting better and better. He fanned Root to start the third and McMillan's single and a double by English followed to bring the first thrill that only a world's series can bring. Imagine the feelings of that 50,000 when not only Hornsby, but also Wilson died swinging blindly at balls that apparently were through the heart of the plates.

Cuyler was back in the fourth for his second enrollment on strikes. Root and McMillan got it in the fifth. The sixth was even more depressing. English fell on strikes. Hornsby topped after him and Wilson followed. This made five in a row for Ehmke.

There were only two strike outs after this but each meant something. Cuyler and Stephenson finally got the range in the seventh and led off with hits. The multitude scented one of those famed Cub uprisings. Ehmke just continued to pitch. After Grimm had sacrificed and Pinch Man Heathcote had died out, Hartnett was summoned to bat for Root. There were three more strikes. Then in the ninth Tolson, batting for Bush, did the same to end the struggle with two Cubs waiting on the bases.

Ehmke Proves His Courage.
A few weeks ago when he wasn't particularly well thought of by Mack, Ehmke summed up his long career and remarked that he'd like to pitch a world series victory and retire. He didn't know until yesterday that he'd get the chance he sought. But if he wants to go now nobody will blame him. He'll never find a better spot in which to bow himself out. He's answered the old charge that he lacked courage.

The struggle that was tense as long as Root was batting. Ehmke started with a Cub fastball. Root's impressive nod in the first round was followed in the home half by a hint that the Cubs were not going to be fooled. With one gone English whacked one straight back at Ehmke and it slipped off his hand for a single. Hornsby took a strike and then timed a slow ball just right. He arched it high toward right and it hung in the air with the earmarks of a Homer but it came down into the hands of Miller who was back to the fence. After that neither Hornsby nor any other Cub hit one that far.

Hornsby Throws Perfectly.
The second, which was the only round in which Root actually had to proceed cautiously, began with Foxx turning Root's first pitch into a single over short. Miller looked bad trying to chase two balls on the outside and finally fanned on a perfect strike. Dykes gave the mound a thrill with a drive that whistled toward center and suddenly turned foul by inches.

He gave them another thrill a moment later by singling through short. It was here that Hornsby displayed his skill as middleman in a double play. Boley bounded to English who grabbed the ball as it popped off his chest and whipped it to Hornsby. Just as the Rajah turned a bit to throw to first Dykes slid into him. The bump didn't disturb the throw. Hornsby pegged perfectly into Grimm's hands to complete the twin killing.

McMillan's single which started the

he looked that way that he Cub's first big scoring chance in the third was a liner to center after two strikes. English rammed a double over first base. Miller paws the air waiting for the ball to come down after it had bumped the screen in front of the flag pole. McMillan went tearing around the bases and passed third as Foxx turned to make the relay to the plate. McCarthy waved him back.

There was a groan from those who thought McMillan should have been sent home. Anything close to a good throw by Foxx would have nulled and the chance wasn't worth taking. Hornsby and Wilson were coming up. McCarthy had no way of knowing two of his best hitters would strike out on balls they should have torn apart.

After that bid for runs had been ruined by Ehmke's slow balls the Cubs went into a spell of silence until Foxx had broken through Root's uncanny skill with his homer into the left field bleacher in the seventh.

Cuyler Starts Trouble.
It was in this same inning that the hits of Cuyler and Stephenson brought another ray of hope. Cuyler had his strikeout two strikeouts in opening the inning with a single Boley couldn't pick up. Stephenson cracked the first pitch for a single to left. Grimm sacrificed on a perfect bunt fielded by Ehmke. McCarthy picked Heathcote as the man who might produce at least a fly. The pinch man merely hoisted to Simmons in short left and Cuyler didn't move off third.

Then it was Hartnett for Root. Gabby doesn't know yet just where the first two strikes came from. But he finally swing and missed.

A funny twist since past Hornsby was the thing that Cochrane used to start English toward his "goat" title in the ninth. Simmons grounded to short and Woody booted the first of what should have been double play balls. Then he hit Foxx's bounded escape and the bags were jammed with none dead.

Miller shot a drive straight back at Bush and it went through his legs for a single to center. Cochrane and Simmons scoring and Foxx going to third. The next two men also hit straight back at Bush but he grabbed these and tossed out runners at the plate. After this Ehmke poked a feeble grounder to Tolson.

Tolson Is 13th Victim.

The Cubs got their chance in the ninth after Wilson had been pegged out on a drive that slipped Ehmke in the groin. Dykes had to hurry on a bounder off Cuyler's bat and whipped it into the dugout. Kiki taking second. Stephenson drove a single to center and Cuyler scored. Grimm poked a hit to right. Then Grimm at second. Noddy Tolson for Bush. He swung at one and missed. A second strike was called after a ball. The count became 3 and 2, but on the next pitch Tolson missed just as the others had done with him and the show closed in funeral silence.

GRINNELL BACK INJURED.
Grinnell, Ia., Oct. 8.—(Special)—An injured right collar bone kept Grinnell, full back of the Grinnell college football team, from participating in practice today.

ATHLETICS, TOO, HAVE WORD OF PRAISE FOR ROOT

"Unfortunate He Faced Ehmke."—Cochrane.

The Athletics in replaying the game at their hotel headquarters last night featured the statement that their triumph offered two pitching surprises. Ehmke and Root both were much better than they expected them to be.

Some of the players confessed they thought Ehmke should have been sent home. Anything close to a good throw by Foxx would have nulled and the chance wasn't worth taking.

"We'll get at them tomorrow," added. "Losing one game doesn't mean losing the series."

What Connie and Joe Think About That First Game

Connie Mack, the Casey leading Athletics, did not go into the dugout with his players after yesterday's game but left immediately for Edgewater Beach hotel, home of the Philadelphia team.

"What is there to say about yesterday's game?" he asked in a quiet tone.

"The result speaks for itself. I am proud of Ehmke's performance. It's not possible that he completely fooled the Cubs."

Joe McCarthy, Cub's manager, in his praise of Ehmke's performance, had no excuse to offer in the defeat of his Cub.

"They got the breaks and we had them all," he said. "Ehmke had a great game, not much better than Root, though. I cannot complain of Root's pitching, neither do I think badly about English's errors. This was perhaps a bit over eager, but we snap out of it."

WILSON, PEGLER ON SCREEN AT LOOP THEATRE

Four hours after the Athletics' victory over the Cubs, the Fox Film company was presenting a movie at the Loop theatres of Westbrook P. TRIBUNE sports writer, exchanges pleasantries with members of the team.

Said Mr. Pegler to Mr. Wilson: "Are you going to do any better than this game, Hack?"

Hack replied: "Yes, but it's the ball."

Pegler and Jimmy Fox, who home run wrecked the game for the Cub, discussed Jimmy's baby. Pegler was assured that an Athletic fan.

Germantown Interest High Why Shouldn't It Be?

Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 8.—With the world series started, residents of historic Germantown, the battle of Germantown, the town colonists and Gen. Howe's troops, had almost as exciting a game as the dwellers of that town had on that October day in 1777. The interest in the series in that section of Philadelphia was due to the fact that William Wrigley, the owner and manager of the Athletics, lives in Germantown.

Eddie Collins Happy.
"Boy, what a ball game," screamed Eddie Collins as he threw his arms around Ehmke. "I knew you could do it. You stood their sluggers on their heads."

Kid Gleason, the whitehaired, grizzled other assistant to Manager Connie Mack, was beaming with happiness. He playfully poked his fat into Ehmke's ribs as the tall, blonde pitcher stood there peeling off his undershirt before a duck into the showers.

SILVER CREEK GOES WILD

Silver Creek, N. Y., Oct. 8.—Silver Creek, home town of Connie Mack, went wild today over the victory of their hero in Chicago. The news of the Athletics' victory impromptu procession was lishments. He also has a radio business.

The ennui which has characterized Howard's efforts in recent years, a bored attitude which resulted in his being sent home from a road trip in 1927, was far from present yesterday. When he had fanned Tolson to end the game and set a new record for world series strikeouts he boyishly ran up to Mickey Cochrane and tackled him.

There's one little grain of consolation. Ehmke won't pitch again in the series. It takes him at least two weeks to get ready, and prior to yesterday he hadn't started a game since the closing of July, when he trimmed the White Sox.

And if there's a world series between the A's and the Cubs next year, let's hope he's confining his wet blanket business to those tarpaulins he makes up at Detroit.

Travel 2,000 Miles from Saskatchewan for Series

Among the 51,000 spectators at the world series yesterday were three who traveled all the way from Lucky Lake, Saskatchewan, just to see these first two games. They are E. G. De Wolf, M. H. Warner and R. E. Wilson. None had ever seen a big league game before. The last named visited the states for the first time. They were guests of New York Evans.

MACKS' VICTORY FLATTENS CUB FANS' BANK ROLL

Chicagoans Plunge on the Opening Game.

BY FRENCH LANE.

The bank rolls of the backers of the Cubs were thin and flat when the opening World Series struggle ended 3 to 1 in favor of the Athletics yesterday.

The Cub backers haven't wagered a whole lot of money on the outcome of the series. But they did plunge on the Cubs to win the opening game.

While it has been one of the lightest betting series on record, commissioners from New York and Chicago last night estimated that $200,000 had changed hands on the first game. Most of these wagers were made at even money.

Macks 2 to 1.

Before the start of yesterday's game the Athletics ruled as the 6 to 5 favorite to win the series. Last night there was plenty of Philadelphia money going boggling in the loop. The Philadelphia backers offered 9 to 5 for a time, then were willing to give 2 to 1. A few good sized wagers were made at these odds, and there was an abundance of Philadelphia money everywhere, but it took considerable scouring to find any one willing to back the Cubs to win the series.

Betting on the result of the second game was quite lively, however, with the Athletics ruling as the favorite at 6 to 5. Should the Athletics win today the odds on the outcome of the series will be 5 to 1, it was predicted in many quarters.

Betting Unusually Light.

The betting on the championship this year has developed some strange angles. It was expected the wealthy sportsmen and speculators in New York, Philadelphia and Chicago would do most of it. The wagers made in Chicago during the last few days show the big city pluggers are in the background. The boys from Des Moines, Fort Worth, Denver, Louisville, Sioux City, and St. Paul were the ones who were willing to risk their money.

One Chicago sportsman, a pensioner who had plenty of Philadelphia money last night, who could not find nearly enough Cub money to cover it, put out that $200,000 had changed hands on several series in other years.

"I don't believe more than one-fourth of that amount has been bet this year," he said.

LAY 9 TO 5 IN PHILLY.

Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 8.—[Special.]—Betting odds on the world series changed to 9 to 5 and 1 to 1 on the Athletics to win the series from the Cubs, in favor of the Mackmen winning today. A few 2 to 1 bets also were reported, the fans figuring Mack still has such pitching aces as Lefty Grove, George Earnshaw, Rube Waisberg and Jack Quinn left. Odds on the second game in Chicago tomorrow were quoted at 6 to 5 on the Athletics to make it two straight.

ODDS 8 TO 5 IN NEW YORK.

New York, Oct. 8.—[Special.]—The Athletics have been made favorites here at 8 to 5 to win the series as a result of their victory today. The Athletics also have been made favorites at 6 to 5 to win tomorrow. The wagering was reported still unusually light, because Chicago money was scarce. It was said that in the event that the Athletics win tomorrow Cub money will be so scarce that the series likely will go down as one of the lightest for betting in the history of the classic.

It was also pointed out the fact that Ehmke, a pitcher not counted upon to appear, came through and did much to make the Chicago backers timid.

EIGHT SCALPERS
FALL INTO NET
OF 30 DETECTIVES

Eight youths fell into the net spread throughout the downtown section yesterday for world series ticket scalpers by Mrs. Myrtle Tanner Blackridge, internal revenue collector. Thirty detectives were sent out by Mrs. Blackridge to keep on the lookout for persons who were more than the ticket prices and to defeat the government of a proportion of the amusement tax.

Five of the alleged scalpers were seized in front of the Cub's ball park where they were offering tickets to passersby. The five were taken to Town Hall police station. They gave their names as John Hebeau, 22 years old, a salesman, 1411 Lawrence avenue; Phillip Udel, 22, a laborer, 3222 Division street; Hugh Dwyer, 38, a laborer, 4015 North Pauline street; Raymond Rose, 22, a messenger, 2257 North Karlov avenue, and Michael Casey, 28, chauffeur, 1522 North Kilpatrick.

MASTRO, TAYLOR FIGHT A SIZZLING 10 ROUND DRAW

Two Judges Disagree and Referee Neutral.

Earl Mastro and Bud Taylor fought like two gamecocks at the Chicago stadium last night and, after ten rounds that had nearly 15,000 cheering themselves hoarse, the simile fight was called a draw. The two judges disagreed, and Referee Paul Collins ruled it a dead heat.

The little west side Italian seemed to be headed for another victory in seven rounds, but Taylor, veteran of many battles, rallied to hold the draw. Mastro even.

Five bouts comprised the card, the remaining featherweights three more gloves and provided more action than all the others. At the tap of the first gong their fists were flying and at the end they were tearing in. There was no let-up.

Mastro's slashing left and occasional right cross puzzled the Terre Haute terror throughout the early rounds, but Taylor was always willing to exchange punch for punch. He pounded Mastro's midsection often, but the slight Italian youngster withstood the blows better and until the last rounds. Then he seemed to slow down.

The second bout comprised the card, the remaining featherweights three more gloves and provided more action than all the others. At the tap of the first gong their fists were flying and at the end they were tearing in. There was no let-up.

The official attendance at Wrigley field was in excess of 50,000. The statisticians must have made a mistake. There were many photographers on the field when William Wrigley shook hands with Tom Shibe.

The long wait began to tell on the bleachers around 11 o'clock, when half dozen fistfights broke out in different sections. Outside of a couple of black eyes there were no casualties.

United States Senator Otis F. Glenn was among the early arrivals, and did plenty of heavy rooting for the Cubs.

The whole Cuyler family was on hand before 11 o'clock, and occupied a box just back of the Cub dugout.

One Eye Connolly wouldn't pose for the photographers. They caught him laying the cash on the line for his standing room ticket.

From the number of five gallon hats in the audience, it looked like most of Texas had moved into Chicago for the series. The Texans all claimed to be boyhood friends of Rogers Hornsby.

Carlton W. Smith of the American Envelope company of Dayton; H. E. Evans, Wheeling, W. Va., capitalist; Col. Frank L. Smith of Dwight, Ill.; W. H. Mateer, the steel magnate of Butler, Pa.; Judge W. F. Mear of Seattle; J. H. Bauer, the Cincinnati rail way magnate; Flo Ziegfeld, and Charles Dingwall were there, the easterners cheering for the Cubs, and the westerners for the Athletics.

My Sullivan of St. Paul took the other ten rounder from Jackie Bratton of Syracuse, N. Y. The easterner put up a fight for six rounds, but was content to rest the remainder of the fight. In the other matches, Fred Justo of Chicago stopped Jack Zahn of Milwaukee in the first and Larn Johnson stopped Tom Jones in the third. The latter are Chicago Negroes.

down on the top step of the dugout in the idle manner of a man who was absolutely sure he had nothing to do all afternoon. Mose Grove, the other left hander, threw a few to Cy Perkins, but not in any serious way. There were a great many inquiries for George Earnshaw, the socially prominent right hand pitcher, who had been expected to pitch the first game, but George was nowhere around and neither was Connie Mack, and all this muddled the mystery around the Philadelphia trench. The elderly Perkins was standing by, waving catch with Bill Miller and I asked him about this confusion.

"I hope Ehmke pitches," Mr. Perkins said. "The people don't know what a good pitcher that fellow is when he's good and I think he is very good just now. He is a finished product."

Some of Mack's Work.

It almost seemed that Mr. Mack left Ehmke behind in Philadelphia to drink, smoke and get right when the club went touring for the last time there in August; for yesterday he pitched such a game of ball as no man had ever quite equaled in certain respects in all the years that the world series has been going on. Furthermore, he took up the delicate problem of just what Ehmke would do under the hardest pressure and he did.

"I'll have to admit there was nothing to cheer about in the way he hung up two errors in the ninth, but his lapses at that late time should be condemned in the recollection of his batting at the outset.

"He made a single and a double his first two times up and the double in the third put McMillan on third with one out and Hornsby and Wilson coming up. These two stalwarts fanned, so if Woody must be the goat name a couple of other goats to keep him company."

The motion was made and seconded and the gent hung up the receiver.

Wilson Floors Ehmke but Loses the Decision

BY ARCH WARD.

Hack Wilson almost put a knockout finish to the Cubs' attack. His line drive caught Howard Ehmke in the solar plexus. Ehmke kept his feet long enough to toss Hack out at first and then sank to the ground for a nine count. He was a trifle groggy when he regained his feet, but was going strong as ever in a few seconds.

The NEW SPARTON EQUASONNE

Once more Sparton has presented something big and new... something which can be compared in importance with Sparton's pioneering of A C reception; with the introduction of the amazing EQUASONNE circuit that has earned universal acceptance as "Radio's Richest Voice". This year's developments bring thrilling, genuine FACE-TO-FACE REALISM.

Radio has entered a new phase. In this new Sparton reception it takes on that magnetic "something" we call PERSONALITY. It becomes LIVING... VIVID. To listen is to step into the picture yourself... to FEEL, and to almost SEE, as well as to listen. Face to face you meet your announcer... clearly you picture the scene and the action... thrillingly you feel the tenseness of the moment.

The new Sparton EQUASONNE is truly ALIVE. The entertainers seem to appear before you in PERSON. The amazing voice of Sparton provides for expression of their individuality as warmly and as vividly as do their instruments or their voices. It is difficult to explain, but it is TRUE. You will know it the moment you first hear the new Sparton.

This FACE-TO-FACE REALISM has created sensational interest among experts and critics. It is easily the outstanding radio feature of the year. We want your opinion. We want you to judge it for yourself. Sparton dealers everywhere are holding "open house" with these new instruments on display. Visit one of them. We promise you a delightful experience and a thrill that will never be forgotten.

PEABODY HORSES WIN TWO RACES AT HAWTHORNE

Old T. S. Jordan Beats Princeton.

The maroon and khaki jacket of Stuyvesant Peabody was much in evidence at Hawthorne yesterday when T. S. Jordan and Santa Sophia rolled up a double victory for the Chicagoan.

T. S. Jordan captured the feature race from a band of crack sprinters and had been stoutly backed. Santa Sophia thrilled the long shot players when she got up in the last stride to win the 2 year old race which opened the program.

The long shot players in the crowd of 7,000 cheered louder than ever when the mutual figures were hung out. Santa Sophia paid $70.88 to win, $25.92 to place and $10.22 to show. And the filly she nipped by her brilliant run in the stretch was Katy McCook, another outsider. The favorite, Haramada, was closing fast at the finish.

In the best she could get was third, though being beaten by a nose and a length.

Princeton, after a long string of victories scored over Chicago tracks, was installed as a slight favorite over T. S. Jordan in the Chateau purse. But, never, at any stage of the journey, was he able to keep step with the veteran Peabody colorbearer.

CHICAGO BANKS
MAKE REPORTS ON CONDITIONTight Credit Due to Speculation.

BY O. A. MATHER.

Good market speculation as the market rates is clearly indicated in response to calls for reports of condition as of Oct. 4

by the controller of the curand the Illinois state auditor.

It is indicated again that the

It is significant that savdeposits declined rather sharply in the last three months and show a small gain over a year ago.

Some expansion in trade and crop of bank credits. These factors may

But these reasons can hardly be of value to business as well as to crime commissions.

However, the new census is a step forward in all directions to the final retail distributor of merchandise.

The beauty parlors and the hair drinks, the bars, the chafers, the shoeshiners and even the hand-men form important classes of the population.

Doubtless it would be impossible to get accurate data on the bootleggers, the professional gamblers and the burglars and killers. An accurate idea of what proportion of the population makes a living illegally would be of value to business as well as to crime commissions.

Some 28,000 distributors, whole-sal and retail, will receive forms asking for the necessary figures before the first of the year. Those who do not send in the reports will be visited by enumerators, and a house to house canvass will be made in the whole dis-to get the manufacturing and distribution data."

The next census will give a means of comparing the cost of making goods and of distributing them to consumers.

Withdrawal of Deposits.

The decline in savings deposits has been unusually large this summer, although employment conditions have been good and wages high and there has been no unusual volume of home or building. Granting that savings should decline somewhat due to the increase in the cost of living, it still appears that the holders have withdrawn sums for other purposes, chief among which is stock market speculation. This is borne out by the discrepancy between savings and all deposits.

Comparison Lacée Value.

Comparison by separate groups with the figures of a year ago is of no value because of the several consolidations that have taken place, some resulting in national banks becoming state institutions and others bringing state banks into the national category.

General news of trade and industry

railroads in the week ended Sept. 28 hauled the largest amount of commodities for any week so far this year and the third largest amount on record.

Research Department Service

FEDERAL INCOME TAXES

THE investor whose income places him in the higher income tax classifications faces a difficult and interesting problem in making an adjustment of his security holdings from the standpoint of tax exemption.

The Research Department of Lawrence Stern and Company is prepared to suggest methods of adjusting the investment program of any investor to the best advantage with relation to Federal income taxation.

It is the policy of our analysts not only to give careful attention to the possibilities of investment in tax exempt securities, but also to suggest other methods of approaching the problem of income taxation which are especially adapted to the particular needs of different investors.

For example, it has been our experience that many investors purchase tax exemption unnecessarily, and that an analysis will show increased return, and desirable diversification, from the substitution of a certain proportion of corporate securities. In the great majority of cases where a high income tax is paid, a formula applied for the purpose of establishing a proper balance between taxable and tax exempt securities will result in very material savings to the investor.

BY SCRUTATOR.

Gov't Plans Survey of Trade
Distribution in Census

BY SCRUTATOR.

Old economic ideas die hard. It is difficult to get most people to think of national prosperity in terms other than those of actual production of tangible goods. Only recently the department of commerce and other governmental bodies have begun to turn to the distributive fields with a determination to root out the secrets of its high costs.

For a good many years full and reasonably accurate statistics have been available on the total annual production of agriculture, of mining and of manufacturing lines. In the new census, to be taken in 1930, a collection of figures, as complete as possible, is to be made of retail and wholesale trade.

Rather unfortunately the enumerators will, according to late reports, still deal pretty closely with physical goods and avoid going into the lines that they had a total value of product of $4,795,000,000.

In comparison with 1925, that was an increase of about 8 per cent in the number of plants and a gain of 160 millions in value of products. A difference in price levels prevented the latter figure being larger. From 1925 to 1927 there was a drop in wholesale prices of something like 8 per cent.

Makes Conservative Estimate.

"My estimate, as conservative as I can make it, is that the number of manufacturing plants will be at least 1,000, large in 1929 than in 1927. Whether the half million wage earners in these plants will be increased is more difficult to determine in view of the trend toward the service occupations.

PLANS 7 STORY HOTEL IN IRVING PARK DISTRICT

Parkwood to Be Erected
West of Crawford.

Plans were announced yesterday by Raymond H. Woods, a real estate man, for the construction of a seven-story apartment hotel at 4014 Irving Park boulevard—just west of Crawford avenue, in the old Irving Park district. It is estimated that the development, including land and building, will represent an investment of $125,000.

The structure will be known as the Parkwood. It will have two stories on the ground floor and the six upper stories will be divided into seventy-seven apartments of one, two and three rooms. Kocher & Larson are the architects. Work is scheduled to get under way next spring, with completion Oct. 1, 1930.

Builds Other Hotels.

Occupying a lot 61 1/2 feet by 211 feet, the Parkwood will extend back 144 feet from the street line. When completed, the Parkwood will be Mr. Woods' fourth apartment hotel in the district. He has others at Keystone and Bellephaine, and at 4142 Keystone. The third is nearing completion at 4025 Crawford avenue. It is known as the Northwood.

Andrew C. O'Laughlin, of the Central Lime & Cement Co., has purchased from the American Brake Shoe & Foundry Co., a tract of seven acres, on the south side of 95th street, 400 feet east of Cottage Grove, for use as a storage yard. The price was not disclosed.

Sells Glencoe Property.

Elmer F. Wieboldt has sold two potential residence sites on Briar lane, Glencoe, adjacent to the Skokie Country club. One purchaser was Edwin C. Austin of the law firm of Cutting, Moore & Sidney. The other buyer was Lynn F. Drake of the insurance firm of Critchell, Miller, Whitney & Barber. In neither case was the price disclosed.

John Lyle Vette, attorney for the Chicago Real Estate board, will discuss Illinois laws governing real estate corporations and investment trusts at the monthly meeting of the board this evening. A buffer supper at $2.00 will precede Mr. Vette's talk.

DRUG COMPANY RENTS STORE AT CLARK-DIVISION

The Born Drug Stores, Inc., has leased from Fred Becklenberg the corner store in the recently completed hotel building at the southwest corner of Clark and Division streets. The lease is for fifteen years on a percentage basis, with a minimum fixed guarantee. Andrew E. Buesch is president of the Born Drug Stores, Inc., a subdivision of the Philip A. Born company, wholesale druggists. This will be the eleventh store to be opened by the Born company. Michael Flieh & Co. were brokers.

*Includes 22,000 shares evidenced by warrants above described.

Mr. Lucius Boomer, President, summarizes his letter to the Bankers as follows:

THE CORPORATION: This Corporation has been organized under the laws of the State of New York for the purpose of erecting and operating a new hotel to bear the same name and to carry on the traditions which for over 35 years made the old Waldorf the best known and most popular of all hotels. Interests affiliated with the management of the old Waldorf have associated themselves with a strong banking group formed to carry out this purpose.

The prestige and good will of the old Waldorf, built up during its many years of activity, constitute an asset of great value to the new enterprise, which should assure liberal patronage from the start.

LOCATION: The location at Park Avenue, 49th and 50th Streets, is ideal. It is in the highly desirable Park Avenue residential section and immediately adjacent to the new uptown business center. It is conveniently near the Fifth Avenue shopping district and the Grand Central Terminal and only a short walk from the Broadway theatre center.

THE HOTEL: The present plans and specifications of the Hotel to be erected provide that it shall be 47 stories in height, modern, fireproof, of steel, stone and brick, shall have a cubic of construction of over 20,000,000 cubic feet, and contain over 2,200 guest rooms, besides adequate banquet halls, dining and other public rooms. In addition to appropriate lobbies and public rooms, the first and second floors will afford considerable space for rental to high-class retail shops, brokers' offices, etc., which space may confidently be expected to yield large rentals.

Thompson-Starratt Company, Inc., are to be the builders and Schultz & Weaver are the architects. The new Hotel Waldorf-Astoria is expected to be ready for occupancy during the Fall of 1931.

SECURITY OF BONDS: A grant for a term of years will be given by the New York Central Railroad Company, owner of the fee, to its subsidiary, New York State Realty and Terminal Company. The New York Central Railroad will cause such grant to be released from the lien of its general mortgages. Such subsidiary will lease the property to Hotel Waldorf-Astoria Corporation. The security of these Bonds, in the opinion of counsel, will be a closed first mortgage on such leasehold covering the entire block (approximately 81,000 square feet) from Park to Lexington Avenues, and from 49th to 50th Streets, New York City (excepting certain sub-surface and analogous rights), a modern 47-story Waldorf-Astoria Hotel building to be erected thereon, and furnishings and equipment thereof. When the mortgage securing these Bonds is recorded, the term grant from which the leasehold is derived will be free of all liens and will not be affected by any liens upon the fee, and should any subsequent mortgage be placed upon either land or building, it will not affect the leasehold and the mortgage securing these bonds.

FINANCIAL PROGRAM: It is estimated that the entire operation, including the construction of and furnishing of the Hotel, organization expenses, financing and carrying charges, working capital, etc., will total about $28,100,000. An agreement with New York State Realty and Terminal Company, the Lessor of the mortgaged leasehold, provides the terms under which it will pay up to $10,000,000 toward the cost of the project. It is expected that the sale of shares of the Corporation's Common Stock, together with the proceeds from the sale of these First Mortgage Leasehold Bonds, will provide the balance of the financial requirements.

LEASE: The first lease period is for twenty-six (26) years and eleven (11) months; the Corporation is given the right to one twenty-one (21) year renewal, and thereafter at the option of New York State Realty and Terminal Company either a further twenty-one (21) year renewal or the receipt by the Corporation of the then value of the building. Rent under the first lease period does not commence until January 1, 1930, although demolition and certain sub-surface work will proceed in the interim.

EARNINGS: Horwath & Horwath, leading authorities on hotel operation, have estimated that, commencing with the first year of normal operation, and after reasonable allowance for vacancies, the annual earnings should be as follows:

|---|--------------|
| Gross Income.....   | $11,007,500 |
| Operating and management expenses, ground rent, insurance, real estate taxes, building and sinking fund rental..... | 7,505,650    |
| Net earnings available for interest on this issue, depreciation and Federal and State taxes.....                    | 3,501,850    |
| Maximum annual interest requirement on Bonds.....   | 776,000      |

New earnings as above indicated are equivalent to over 4.5 times such annual interest requirement.

After deducting interest, estimated depreciation, Federal income and New York State franchise taxes, and after providing funds for the amortization within thirty-one years from the date of the commencement of the first lease period of (1) the $11,000,000 principal amount of bonds and of (2) an amount equivalent to the entire presently to be outstanding amount of common stock at $50 per share, the earnings above indicated would, at the rental rate for the first lease period, be about $10 per share upon the 171,000 shares of common stock to be presently outstanding.

COMMON STOCK: Under the provisions of the lease, the building rental and sinking fund rental should cease within thirty-one (31) years from the date of the commencement of the first lease period. During such time, the operation of the sinking fund upon the bonds should result in their amortization and, based on the

TEXAS CORP. TO SELL 100 MILLION OF DEBENTURES

Will Use Funds in Expansion of Firm's Business

The sale of $100,000,000 of 5 per cent ten year debentures with privileges of conversion into common stock was authorized yesterday by directors of the Texas corporation. The funds derived will be used for expansion of the company's activities in the producing, refining, transportation and distributing phases of the business.

The debentures will be offered today by a syndicate headed by the Continental Illinois company at 95 1/2 and interest to yield over 5 1/4 per cent. The debentures are convertible into common stock at any time at the option of the holders on the following basis: $70 a share to Oct. 1, 1930, $80 to Oct. 1, 1934, at $100 to Oct. 1, 1939, and at $125 a share thereafter to maturity, which is Oct. 1, 1944.

Declare 100 Per Cent Stock Dividend.

Directors of the W. T. Grant company have declared a 100 per cent stock dividend. The date of distribution has not been decided upon. Stockholders will receive one additional share of capital stock for each share held, after which they will be issued to stockholders the right to subscribe to one additional share for each ten shares held at $30 a share.

At the close of 1928 there were 750,000 shares of no par common stock to stockholders of record Oct. 11 at $40 a share, in the ratio of one share for every six held, was approved by the directors of the Western Electric company. As the American Telephone and Telegraph company owns practically all but two per cent of the Western Electric stock, there will be little of the new stock going into public hands. Walter C. Allen, president of the Yale & Towne Manufacturing company, was elected a director of Western Electric.

Plan Liquidation.

H. E. Dodge, secretary of the Mason Valley Mines company, stated that the company will distribute soon $2 a share in liquidation to stockholders who surrender certificates for stock. An initial quarterly dividend of 50 cents a share on the common, payable Nov. 1 to holders of record Oct. 15, has been declared by directors of the Thermoid company, placing the stock on a $2 annual basis.

An initial disbursement of 75 cents a share quarterly was declared by directors of the Tri-Continental Allied company on the 6 per cent cumulative preferred stock.

WORLD'S GRAIN MARKET NEWS

A marked change in sentiment in wheat was especially noticeable at the last. Greater absorptive ability developed which was credited to eastern importers and sentiment favored the consecutive side of the market to a greater extent. More attention was given to the news, especially that from Winnipeg, claiming that cables received in that market said that Argentina would not have more than 50 per cent of a crop and also told of a good export demand over night, adding that the Canadian crop will not be over 250,000,000 bushels.

Many of the corn traders were surprised at the strength in their market and the short interest was materially cut down as the result of a larger shipping demand and no increase in country offerings.

Commercial wheat stocks in the United States combined with the Canadian visible supply make an aggregate of 282,000,000 bu, compared with 126,000,000 bu last year.

Investment Counselors for over a Quarter CenturyWhen Reaction Sets In—

It is periods of reaction that the value of investment counsel becomes most strikingly apparent.

You can easily have the profits of weeks or months wiped out if you have inadvertently become over-extended, have purchased speculative stocks, have accepted unauthorized advice.

It is the business, and the duty, of an organization such as Brookmire to take every means to prevent these things from interfering with clients' investment progress.

It is dangerous to try to "go it alone".

We have set up comprehensive research facilities, and in every possible way provided a service which you, as a careful investor, can use to help eliminate the sharp and frequently disastrous set backs, which individuals trying to "go it alone" experience all too frequently.

We would like the opportunity of letting you see what this service is and how you can use it. Without obligation you can secure a copy of our recently prepared "Broader View Program", an outline of Brookmire Service, and our current bulletin on security trends.

What $16,000 buys
in The American Weekly

A full page in color nearly 3 times as big as any other magazine page in the world. 6,000,000 families—at a cost of less than  $\frac{1}{3}$  cent per family. The attention of the entire family instead of a single buying factor.

THE American Weekly not only gives the advertiser more readers for less money than any other magazine in the world, but it offers a page nearly three times as big as any other magazine. Is the size of the page important? We believe it is.

The competition for advertising attention grows keener every day. Advertisers are bidding millions for attention. The expert advertisement writer is paid more than the author of a best seller.

A fine commercial artist makes more money than the President. No cost is spared by the advertiser to lure the buyer's eye.

In an American Weekly color page, your illustration and headline have a chance. There is plenty of room to tell the whole story of your product without leaving out the coupon.

For \$16,000 you can buy a full page in color in The American Weekly and reach 6,000,000 homes located in the richest buying centers of the United States. That means one family out of every four at a cost of less than  $\frac{1}{3}$  cent per family.

The most people at the lowest cost! If you have a national advertising proposition, then you have an American Weekly proposition. This great magazine is the best buy on the publishing counter today.

Girl Corners a Chap, Nowadays; Just Try to Be Introduced!

BY DORIS BLAKE.

I'm beginning to believe that the advice to lonesome girls to look to other girls for help for their lonely hours is outmoded. I've been told so often lately that "when it comes to introducing them to their boy friends, one girl is as tight as the next." That's the way Helen puts it and she admits having scores of girl friends.

There has grown up in recent years a proprietorship about boy friends though the boy friend may have taken the girl out but once or twice; that excludes all outside companionship. And I'm told, too, by the young women and young men that the foursomes aren't as popular as they used to be. Those foursomes gave the extra girl a chance to meet the extra man.

In fact, so proprietorial has the attitude become that the girl raves on about her sweetie or what an appellation she has for preserving his anonymity, and her audience is never supposed to make an inquiry about his identity. He's her secret, certainly not to be introduced around freely. And perhaps the losses that have been suffered justify in a measure the protective stand. But, of course, you can't keep a man tied unless you keep on being interesting to him, which a girl is in danger of not continuing to be if she confines him

The Wrong Seat.

My most embarrassing moment occurred while I was attending high school. A teacher there laid quite a bit of stress on our personal appearance, and one day asked if she should name the prettiest girl in the room. We said, "Yes," and she gave the number of the row and the seat number in which the girl sat. I certainly thought she had said mine, and I stood up to denote a little, and then to thank her, when she said, "O, but I meant the girl in back of you!" Was I embarrassed? O, no!

YOU'LL LIKE BOTH TASTE AND RESULTS

"At first," said one of the younger set noted for the flashing beauty of her teeth, "I didn't like the taste of Pepto tooth paste. But it worked so well with so many friends that I stuck to it a whole week. Now I like it both because of results and because of its taste,—its salty tang and refreshing after-flavor somehow convince me that Pepto is keeping my teeth clean and lovely."—Adet.

Next Window, Please.

While working in a large furniture store as cashier in the credit department, I had to repeat the phrase, "next window, please," to numerous customers, each day. While waiting on a salesman, if a customer would appear at my window, I would say, "next window, please."

One day while riding home on the street car the unusual happened. As the car was about a half a block away from the street where I get off, I walked to the front platform and in a loud voice said to the motorman, "next window, please." Embarrassed, and how!

BY THE ART INSTITUTE

RECEIVED for

Art Institute
Reception Set for October 24

BY THALIA

The Art Institute has issued cards for the forty-first annual reception to open the forty-second annual exhibition of American paintings and sculpture on Thursday afternoon, Oct. 24. The Art Institute opening reception is traditionally one of the largest and most important of the fall gatherings. The various clubs and societies to be represented at tea tables in the various galleries, whose members are to pour, follow: The Antiquarian society, Mrs. Chauncey McCormick, Mr. H. B. Erminger Jr., Mrs. Rockefeller McCormick, Mrs. Waller-Borden and Mrs. J. Paul Wellin; The philanthropic, Mrs. Moses J. Wentworth, Mrs. D. Marc Cummings, and Mrs. Henry K. Gilbert.

The Friends of American Art, Mrs. J. A. Hamill and Mrs. Martin A. Green; the Chicago Woman's club, Mrs. Henry Hoyt Hilton, Mrs. R. Maynard Reed, and Mrs. Charles W. Laffin; the Municipal Art League, Mrs. Charles W. Leigh, Miss Lena M. McCauley, and Mrs. William F. Grower; the Chicago Woman's Aid, Mrs. Sophie M. Oppenheimer, Mrs. Herbert Field, and Mrs. Abram W. Johnson; the Art Institute Alumni association, Mrs. Willis S. Pryor, Miss Anna Lynch, and Miss Elizabeth Baseline; the Tuesday Art and Travel club, Mrs. Charles G. Fanning, Mrs. Walter Ferrier, and Mrs. D. D. Gifford; the Arché club, Mrs. Charles L. Johnson, Mrs. William L. Simonson, and Mrs. Milton Howard Mack; the Knights Club of Women, Mrs. Phyllis Ferges Hoyt, Mrs. Helena Stone Thompson, and Mrs. Edna M. Trego; the Renaissance club, Mrs. James Lee, Mrs. Roger Rugg, and Mrs. Alister Stepan; the Association of Arts and Industries, Mrs. John M. Glenn, Mrs. Oliver Dengett Grover, and Mrs. Frank Millehenn; the Arts club, Miss Katherine Dudley, Miss Anna Lynch, and Mrs. Philip B. Maher; the Wednesday Fortnightly, Mrs. Charles Wesley Dempster, Mrs. Stanley McCormick, and Mrs. William B. Henry; and the Friday club, Mrs. Harris Brewer, Mrs. J. M. Patterson, and Mrs. Edward L. Ryerson Jr.

The open season for entertaining distinguished guests apparently is upon us. The prominent Episcopalians of the town are anticipating the arrival on the 19th of an important British prelate, the Rt. Rev. Frank Theodore Woods, D.D., lord bishop of Winchester, England, and Mrs. Woods.

They are making a tour of Canada and the brief stay in Chicago will be their first stop in the United States. They are to be the house guests of Bishop and Mrs. Charles P. Anderson, and there will be other entertaining for them.

The Church Club of Chicago, of which John D. Allen of Glencoe is president, and of which Dr. Nathan I. Davis III, Alfred H. Granger, James H. Douglass, and Edward L. Ryerson Jr. are directors, is to give a dinner and reception for the visitor on Monday evening, Oct. 21, at the Hotel La Salle, and the English Speaking Union will give a luncheon the day of his arrival.

His main mission is to preach at St. James Sunday, and he has his preaching engagements during the day. The smaller affairs to be given for the Woods have not been settled as yet.

Mr. John Elliott Jenkins Jr., who is one of the best unofficial aviation promoters about, tells me that the opening of the new Curtiss airport will be given at the Congress hotel on Nov. 27, Thanksgiving eve. William R. Odell and Edwin W. Winter II are the members retiring from the committee this year, and the two new members are Robert S. Pirkle and Joseph C. Seiden. The group includes besides Keith Carpenter, Dexter Cummings, Edison Dick, Wesley M. Dixon, James H. Douglas Jr., J. Russell Ferguson, Luther S. Hammond Jr., Harry A. Knott Jr., W. Paul McBride, William B. McIlvaine Jr., W. Irving Osborne Jr., J. Sanford Otis, Ogden West, and Stephen Y. Hord, who is chairman.

Mr. and Mrs. Gustav Hesser of the Drake hotel have returned from a summer in Europe. The Hessers attended Ambassador Dawes' birthday party in London on the Fourth of July, and they motored through the British Isles.

Beloit Legion Plans Halloween Party for Young

Beloit, Wis., Oct. 8.—[Special]—A community Halloween party to entertain youngsters and at the same time keep them out of mischief on Halloween night is to be sponsored here this year for the first time by Myron C. West, post of the American Legion, which voted to initiate the project.

Mrs. Elizabeth Hazard, First Knox Grad, Dies

Milwaukee, Wis., Oct. 8.—[AP]—Mrs. Elizabeth Hazard, mother of Mrs. Edwin Frost, wife of a Williams Bay aviator, died Monday in Boston, according to word reaching here. Mrs. Hazard was one of the first class of graduates at Knox college, Galesburg, Ill.

The question, long moot in the Lawrence Whiting household, as to whether or no "Henny" should make her debut this year, is at last decided, in the affirmative. "Henny" is Miss Henrietta Countiss, Mrs. Whiting's daughter, and she is as much interested in her art studies as she is in a debut, but nevertheless, there's to be a tea and a ball for her during December.

If she appears at any of the debut parties with a paint daub on her face, it'll be because she couldn't tear herself away from her work soon enough to scrub it off. Mrs. Whiting has been ill in town and Miss Countiss

Yearly Mileage of the Housewife
Is a-Plenty

An enterprising investigator finds that a housekeeper walks every year a distance equal to that from Boston to San Francisco. These women do not get their mileage from springing along public highways, either. From the kitchen to the dining room, from the cupboard to the sink, from bedroom to bedroom or living room, walking around picking up toys or yielding broom and dustcloth, the mileage mounts up. Housekeepers, therefore, should be remarkably well exercised human beings, and where reasonable attention is paid to the right air circulation throughout the house while the exercise is being taken we can not recommend any better form of physical endeavor for keeping fit.

Of course, any one exercise indulged in exclusively and continuously is apt to become painfully monotonous. Some women have the knack of injecting the proper spirit into housework, which somewhat relieves the monotony. But the average one must needs, for the benefit of her soul, take a fling into the outdoors, with the golf stick, a tennis racket or a sprightly hiking companion along with her.

The report of the housewife's yearly mileage raises the question of how much ground the rest of us not engaged in similar work are permitted in the course of our daily labors. Some women workers are tied to the desk almost continuously from the moment it is opened in the morning until the last is reached for at night, with the luncheon's brief "standing and walking" intermission. Salesgirls, it appears in the report above referred to, have more opportunity to keep fit and legs nimble walking them than typists or stenographers.

How far do you walk in a day? This is the time of year of all seasons to think about getting out the walking shoes and catching up on mileage missed during an otherwise occupied day. One could ramble on forever extolling the virtues of biking as the exercise de luxe, but none are so easily convinced as those who issue forth on a brisk fall day and return with cheeks glowing and the blues or with salts you scattered to the four winds.

BEAUTY ANSWERS

HELEN M. WHERE THE HAIR is as oily as yours you want to wash it every week at least. Rub this tonic into the scalp: Resorcin, 40 grains; water, 1½ ounces; alcohol, 1½ ounces; with hazel, 1½ ounces. The witch hazel and alcohol will help reduce the pores to normal size and have a drying effect. You may shampoo your hair at little cost. Send a stamped addressed envelope for instructions.

FARM AND GARDEN BY PAUL POTTER

With the vote nearing a million, the battle to name the national flower finds the wild rose in the lead, says a statement by the American Nature Association. The supporters of the camellia, however, are making a determined rush in several western states to oust the leader. The balloting to determine the date of the vote Dec. 12. Here is the vote of the leaders in date:

W.M. Rose..... 33,605
Camellia..... 143,235
Violet..... 78,305
Gardenia..... 63,701
Phlox..... 29,255
American Beauty Rose..... 10,665
Daisy..... 10,665
Dwarf Mountain Laurel..... 9,691
Mountain Laurel..... 8,764
Scenting..... 18,360

Total..... 74,142

In Colorado a campaign is on for the columbine, the state flower. Schools and women's clubs are evincing keen interest reports show and it is expected that the total turned in will be more than a million before December 12. The states leading in number of votes cast so far are: Pennsylvania, Ohio, Wisconsin, Washington, New York. A number of others among which are Delaware, Nevada, South Carolina, New Mexico, Kentucky, have campaigns under way and it is expected they will turn in a big number of votes.

Two thousands years ago in Athens the rose was crowned the queen of flowers. It is old, extremely old, this queen, and from time immemorial never has ceased to charm the world with its haunting fragrance and exotic beauty. The romantic songs and legends of the Greeks, the Persians and the Chinese testify that this pampered darling of the garden the world over was cultivated in earliest times. The place it holds in the heart of man is unusual in that no other flower has ever succeeded in usurping its sovereignity.

BY JANE EDDINGTON.
French Cooking.

My two dear friends and co-laborers, Miss LuLu and Miss Loretta King, to my great delight, brought me home from Paris in July last "Les Plaisirs de La Table," by Edouard Nignon, who built up the restaurant which Julian Street in his new book, "Where Paris Dines," mentions first in his list of "Six Restaurants Beyond Compare." It is a most interesting volume in every way. Monsieur Nignon knows history and literature and has known many of the great men of the present day, and relates some of his experiences in cooking for them. I have translated some delightful parts of this book but have not written yet about it, because I have not yet so much to do with it, perhaps trying out a recipe or many.

The above paragraph is written here and now because I have just now received a letter in which I am asked for anything I have printed on the subject of French cooking in the past, which is the first point, and then the rest of the letter reads: "Or [2] to devote a generous amount of space to it in some future edition of the paper; or [3] to send to me any data you have at hand on the subject, as to general methods and recommended cook books in English or in French and possibly including some specific recipes." The letter ends with a nice compliment for my work, including the word "indispensable."

Because it is recent, and good, I recommend to this correspondent "French Home Cooking" [E.P. Dutton, Jr.], by Claire de Pratz, edited by Dean Morris, instructor in foods and cooking, Teachers' college, Columbia University, and attractively and prettily bound, too.

A charming two year old book put out by Brentano's is "Clarisse, or the Old Cook," translated from the French with a gratifying preface, and an introduction even more gratifying by A. B. Walkley, who is a famous English dramatic critic, I believe. At any rate, he has eminence for writing about something, and says things like this: "The best luncheon is that you eat the day after a big dinner—composed of the remains of the feast?" Have you not noticed that yourself? And a properly appointed meal is the pleasantest of things. It is a luxury of civilization which should be surrounded by every refinement. And there is a marvelous word picture of poor effects also. It is for entertainment and lovely like the Nigroni.
